City's only theater being reincarnated

BY MARK THELLMANN

There were no screams - not even a low moan. The Fayette Cinema on S. Fayette Street just rolled over and died peacefully last Tuesday night, without even a good-by; maybe because it wasn't really leaving, just dying in order to be reincarnated into a dance hall!

"Sounds Unlimited Discotheque," will be born in place of the Fayette Cinema at the end of the month. Through its doors will no longer be the familiar silver screen and rows of seats, but a flashing, pulsating dance floor; tables and chairs; and a bar which serves non-alcoholic beverages which taste like the alcohol-injected Cold Duck, champagne and beer (the non-alcohol counterparts are called Near-Beer, champagne-o and dead duck) and a snack bar serving pizza, subs, potato chips, pretzels, etc.

ON THE walls of the discotheque old-time movies will be shown, strobe lights will flash and kalidescopes of colorful goemetric patterns will spin and constantly change, while a multi-thousand dollar sound system plays all the hits and more non-stop.

In the back of the room, behind where the screen once hung, will be 35 games; everything from air-hockey to the legal form of pinball (it won't pay off in free games) and electronic games such as TV ping-pong.

The person behind this metamorphosis is none-other than the owner-operator of the theater, Harry Chakeres, who states ascetically, "It just wasn't right for me to pack up and leave Washington C.H. without giving the city some other form of entertainment its people would enjoy."

Chakeres explained why he put the lid on the last film canister late Tuesday night and sent it back to the distributor for the last time.

"The small theater owner can't make it now days with 60 cents or more out of every dollar taken in at the door going towards film rental. Any profit is quickly consumed by operating expenses and overhead; plus, television has hurt us so badly," Chakeres admitted. "If you were a distributor sending a movie out under the aforementioned contract arrangement would you send it to a large city like Columbus, where there are enough people to fill the theaters which are equipped to handle vast seating capacities, or would you send it to Washington C.H.?" Chakeres questioned and made his point.

"By the time I receive a big movie like the "Godfather," it

NOW? — Now what? You'll see at the end of November when the Fayette Cinema has been fully transformed into the "Sounds Unlimited Discotheque." Harry Chakeres (left) and partner Gregg McNany (right), are working feverishly to create what they term the "plushest place, in town to have a goodtime. The men said they are sinking $100,000 into the remodeling project which will include a multi-thousand dollar sound system and light show. Chakeres emphatically states, "We will serve no alcohol. I want my patrons to be able to have a good time without relying on drinking. There will be something for everyone: food and soft drinks, a game room, old-time movies, dancing and occasionally live bands."

Strike could cripple economy

Coal walkout set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide coal strike will begin just after midnight tonight and a top official of the United Mine Workers predicted today that the walkout will last about three weeks.

Most coal mines already were shut for the Veteran's Day holiday while union and industry negotiators continued efforts to resolve differences over a new contract.

As he arrived for today's bargaining session, UMW Vice President Mike Trbovich said failure to reach an agreement before tonight's official strike deadline will prolong the walkout at least another week beyond the union's earlier twoweek forecast.

"By not coming up with a contract last night or early this morning, I think we're in for a three-week strike," Trbovich told reporters. He said the major obstacle holding up a settlement is the economic package dealing with wages, pensions, sick pay and other benefits.

Only a few non-economic issues remained and the union official said these will be resolved.

Trbovich said if the negotiators get their "heads together I think we can get something by the end of the week."

Both Guy Farmer, the chief industry negotiator, and UMW President Arnold Miller said after Sunday night's session that they were getting closer to an agreement but indicated that it still was several days away.

Each day of delay will further prolong the strike, now expected to last at least two weeks. That's the estimated time required for miners to vote on any tentative pact.

The government says a walkout of any longer duration will begin to force production cutbacks in other industries and result in layoffs of thousands of workers.

A strike is unavoidable because of the UMW's "no contract, no work" tradition, and because ratification of any settlement would require about 10 days. Thus, the length of the walkout depends on the negotiators' ability to hammer out a new agreement that will win rank-and-file approval. The current contract expires at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

After furious last minute stockpiling Saturday, most coal mines were idle Sunday and are expected to remain so until the union's 120,000 members approve a new contract. Were the mines to work today — Veteran's Day — the companies would have to pay triple wages under holiday provisions of the current pact.

The negotiators met until 11 p.m. Sunday before recessing for the night, the latest they have worked in nearly a week.

As he emerged from the talks, Farmer said he thought it would be midweek before a settlement was worked out. Earlier, he had been hopeful of an agreement over this past weekend.

Ohio Assembly sets housing law action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee meets today to examine a House-passed bill establishing a housing agency with authority to issue bonds and make housing loans.

Leaders have called for a full-blown working session of the General Assembly Tuesday with the expectation of completing action on the measure in one day.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he will seek to put an emergency clause on the bill so that it might bring relief sooner to the state's ravaged housing industry.

Non-emergency measures don't go into effect for 90 days.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and a special committee of senators and representatives recommended that the legislature be called out of recess to act on the bill.

The lawmakers quit last summer, but have been meeting monthly in skeleton sessions to keep the legislature technically alive until the end of the year.

Lancione and Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, said they want to try to limit the Tuesday session to the housing bill.

They were believed to feel now is not the time, with the legislature in lame duck status along with Gilligan, to open the door to consideration of other legislative and state problems.

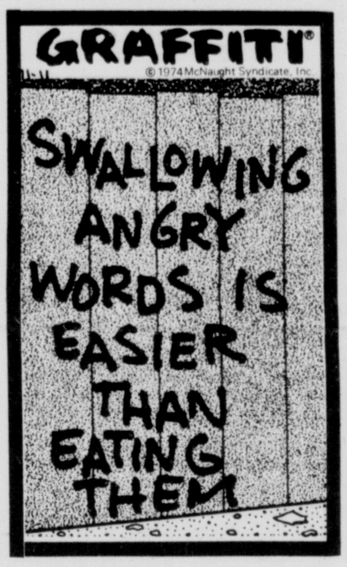
The session was delayed until after the election because Gray reportedly felt members might come into town more interested in using it for a campaign forum than for legislating.

Rep. Edward Feighan, D-8 Cleveland, is chief sponsor of the housing bill which authorizes the Housing Development Board to issue bonds for money to make loans—to builders and individuals as well—to make housing repairs and finance new construction.

Through the agency, the bonds could be repaid at about seven per cent or less as loans were repaid at eight or nine per cent, adding on only the amount required to pay administrative costs. Most of the state's lending institutions currently are charging about 11 or 12 per cent for housing loans.

The Legislative Service Commission committee that recommended action on the bill now was told that Massachusetts adopted a similar program and made about $170 million available for loans in that state and a rate of 8¾ per cent.

Some Ohio lawmakers have mentioned the possibility of bonds totaling about $150 million to get the program under way in this state.



Ford reported encouraged by Kissinger Mideast trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, preparing for his first official journey overseas, says Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from his 17-country trip with "very encouraging" news.

Ford and Kissinger discussed the secretary's 18-day trip for three hours Sunday at Camp David, Md. They plan to confer about two hours each day this week in preparation for Ford's Far East visit.

The President and Kissinger depart for the Far East next Sunday. Ford said he was "looking forward to a constructive trip to Japan, South Korea and to the Soviet Union."

Standing on the White House lawn with Kissinger after flying back from Camp David, Ford said the secretary of state brought back from the Middle East "some encouraging news" and that Kissinger's meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev "was very helpful."

Kissinger returned to Washington Saturday expressing confidence that his trip had helped chances for peace in the Middle East and agreement with the Soviet Union to limit nuclear arms.

Ford also told newsmen that Kissinger's talks in India, Bangladesh and Pakistan had been "very helpful in redirecting our policy in that vitally important area of the world."

Turning to Kissinger, Ford said he wanted to "personally thank you, very much," and noted "the superhuman effort the secretary has made."

Kissinger spent the first four days of his trip in Moscow and then made a swing through Italy, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria, Israel, Iran and Syria.

Coverup jury to hear damaging tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today denied a request for a separate trial and for a mistrial from two of the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica acted just before Watergate prosecutors were scheduled to begin playing a series of 26 white House tapes they say is the most important part of their case.

Among them is the last tape made public by Richard M. Nixon before he resigned the presidency.

Shortly before rejecting a mistrial motion from defendant John N. Mitchell and a severance motion from defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson, Sirica agreed to another defense request that a word be struck from the June 23, 1972, tape to be heard by the jury today.

Transcripts prepared by the special prosecutor's office showed defendant H. R. Haldeman saying, "Gemstone," in reference to the code name for the plan to bug the Democrats in 1972.

In place of Gemstone and sentences bracketing it, Sirica ordered the word "unintelligible" typed in. The tape where others who have heard Gemstone remains intact.

Lawyers for Parkinson and Mitchell had made their request to Sirica based upon the disclosure last week of a memo written by Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt.

The memo had been kept from the prosecutors for more than a year by Hunt's first lawyer, William O. Bittman.

Defense lawyers had argued that the sudden appearance of the memo unfairly forced them to change their strategies in midstream.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court declined to hear arguments on whether the indictments of the six Watergate cover-up defendants should be invalidated.

The ruling lets stand a Court of Appeals decision which rejected a motion by H. R. Haldeman to strike down the indictments. Haldeman contended the grand jury which returned the indictments was not legally in existence since Congress extended its life beyond the normal 18 months.

The 26 tapes total 35 listening hours and are designed to enlighten the jury about key events in the 10 months after the June, 1972, break-in. Also to be introduced into evidence was a diary of Nixon's appointments for June 23, showing that he and Haldeman met for

Several races still in doubt days after general election

By The Associated Press

Six days after the elections, two races for senator, one for governor and three for the House of Representatives are still undecided and will remain so until recounts are completed.

Here is a state-by-state rundown:

NORTH DAKOTA: Republican Sen. Milton R. Young holds a 240-vote lead over former Gov. William L. Guy, a Democrat, in the race for Young's Senate seat. Five of the 53 county canvassing boards have yet to turn in official tabulations, but are expected to do so by Tuesday. Young, 76, said Sunday: "The uncertainty of it all is the worst part."

NEW HAMPSHIRE: In the Senate race, Republican Rep. Louis C. Wyman held a 335-vote lead out of 220,000 cast over Democrat John A. Durkin, a former State Insurance Commissioner. They face a recount.

ALASKA: Jay Hammond, a Republican, had a 661-vote margin over Democratic Gov. William A. Egan, whom he is seeking to unseat, as questioned ballots in the Anchorage area were counted. Still unreported were a few absentee ballots and the returns from four villages.

LOUISIANA: Officials have refused to certify the race in the 6th Congressional District and say they will refuse to do so until there is a court ruling on a count from a voting machine that may have malfunctioned. If the machine's tally is allowed, Republican W. Henson Moore would defeat Democrat Jeff LaCaze by five votes. Without the machine's vote, LaCaze would win by 195 votes.

NEBRASKA: Virginia Smith, a Republican, leads by 24 votes over Democrat Wayne Ziebarth in the state's 3rd Congressional District. However, votes from heavily populated Lincoln and Hall counties remain to be tabulated. Neither is the incumbent.

MAINE: David Emery, a Republican, leads by less than 600 votes over four-term Democratic Rep. Peter N. Kyros in the state's 1st District. Lawyers for both men have agreed to a recount which will begin today and is expected to take a week to eight days.

Kremlin increases Jewish harassment

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin has increased its harassment of Jewish dissidents since the announcement in Washington of an agreement to let more Jews emigrate from the Soviet Union, leading Jewish activists have told Sen. James L. Buckley.

The conservative New York Republican met for an hour and a half Sunday night at the home of scientist Alexander Lerner with 16 of Moscow's most active Jewish leaders, most of whom have been denied permission to leave the country.

They told Buckley that all the telephone lines over which the dissidents communicated with the West have been cut since Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D.-Wash., announced on Oct.18 that the Soviet government was liberalizing its Jewish immigration policy to obtain trade concessions from the United States Congress.

The Jews told Buckley that for the past three years some of their phones were shut off periodically, but several were usually left open. Now all of them have been shut off, they said.

One of the group, Alexander Luntz, said reports from Minsk, the capital of Byelorussia, indicate that not only those Jews who apply to emigrate but those who receive invitations from Israel are being subjected to searches and confiscations.

Luntz said that after a recent trip to the Caucasian republic of Azerbaijan, police detained him and confiscated documents and film on the Jews of that region.

"We have seen that not the volume but the kinds of persecution have enlarged, and most of it is taking place where people are not able to inform either you or me," Luntz told the senator.

The Jewish leaders put much emphasis on their need to maintain phone and mail communications with the West. They said constant contact would provide one of the best means of ensuring that Soviet authorities adhere to the emigration agreement.

Buckley, a leader in the congressional drive to force the Kremlin to liberalize its emigration policies, arrived in Moscow Saturday afternoon and vigorously pursued the dissident community for information. He has been ignored by the Soviet government, and there has been no mention of his visit in the press.

President facing political pressures

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford faces increased pressures from both left and right, from Democrats and Republicans, as a result of last week's off-year elections.

And the cross-currents already developing could complicate his 1976 election plans, should he carry out his announced intention of seeking a full presidential term.

On one hand, Democrats contend that their sweeping electoral pickups were the result of voter demand for more forceful leadership in government, particularly in dealing with the nation's troubled economy.

They seem certain to push that view when the 94th Congress convenes in January, and there are indications the liberal wing of Ford's own party will lend some support.

On the other hand, Republican conservatives led by retiring California Gov. Ronald Reagan were already restive because of Ford's selection of Nelson A. Rockefeller for vice president and his proposal for conditional amnesty to Vietnam-era military dissenters.

Although the biggest losers in the election were hard-line GOP conservatives, Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., insisted Friday "there is no evidence that conservative positions were in any way questioned by the voters."

For the moment, Ford is standing pat. Top officials say they don't see any plan to change the administration's approach to the economic situation.

Over the longer run, that stance could bring trouble in Congress and with the public. If Congress develops any momentum for economic initiative at all, Ford could wind up in the position of seeming to block it, unless he comes up with proposals beyond those offered to date.

But if Ford begins to act by adopting such proposals as wage-price guidelines to curb inflation or stepped up federal spending to meet recession, he faces problems with the Republican conservatives.

Whatever their fate last Tuesday, Republican conservatives still command considerable strength within the GOP as a result of the gradual shift of Republican power toward the South and the West.

Reagan himself plans to embark on a nationwide speaking tour next year. He is hinting a 1976 presidential bid, regardless of whether Ford runs.

There are some doubts that Ford will run if economic conditions are poor.

Despite White House pronouncements that his candidacy is "probable", Mrs. Ford's recent breast cancer operation could give the President a perfect "out" if he doesn't want to run.

Reagan then might be nominated at a conservative-dominated GOP convention, according to that possible scenario.

Brown sets loan case court appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Atty. Gen. William J. Brown says he is confident the 10th District Court of Appeals will overturn a lower court ruling that Ohio cannot recover $14 million in defaulted loans from two former state officials or their bonding companies.

Judge Jack Young ruled last week that neither former Treasurer John D. Herbert nor his investment officer, Robert Gardner, was guilty of negligence in making the loans.

Young, who came out of retirement on assignment to hear a suit filed by Brown, also criticized the attorney general for failing to take quick action to recover the losses.

The loans in question were two-year loans made to the Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America for $4 million and King Resources, Inc., for $8 million. Both firms later went broke.

Young said Brown should have sued both firms and his failure to do so within 20 months was "indefensible." He also criticized Board of Deposits action in 1970 that prohibited Herbert from disposing of any investments at a loss.

"We feel Judge Young was wrong in his reasoning, that he felt 20 months was too long since the loans were made for the suit to be filed. . . ," Brown said.

The judge found that the "dilatory action or inaction by the attorney general's office negated any offense which the treasurer may have committed, as did the order of the Board of Deposits."

The June 23 tape quotes Nixon as approving a plan to thwart the FBI investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters. Most of the other tapes involve conversations in April 1973 right before two of Nixon's top assistants, Haldeman and defendant John D. Ehrlichman, resigned and a third, John W. Dean III, was fired.

Nixon reportedly kept the existence of the June 23 tape a secret even from his own lawyer, James D. St. Clair, until last Aug. 5, just a few days before he became the first president to resign.

The published transcript of the June 23 tape quotes Haldeman: "Now on the investigation, you know, the Democratic break-in thing, we're back in the problem area because the FBI is not under control ... their investigation is now leading into some productive areas."

Haldeman notes a suggestion from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, another defendant, that "the way to handle this now is for us to have (Deputy CIA Director Vernon A.) Walters call (then Acting FBI Director) Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of this — this is ah, business here we don't want you to go any further on it.'"

Nixon responds to his one-time chief of staff by saying, "They (the CIA) should call the FBI in and (unintelligible) don't go any further into this case, period," according to the White House transcript.

To supplement the tapes, Walters was scheduled to testify, as he has in other forums, that he then complied with the White House request and asked Gray to keep the FBI away from investigating checks traced to one of the original burglars. The checks involved money that had been passed through a bank in Mexico to conceal the identities of Nixon campaign contributors.

Gray, now in a Connecticut law firm, was also to be called to the witness stand.

The June 23 transcript shows that Nixon and Haldeman also talked about Mitchell and the five 1972 Nixon re-election campaign checks traced to the original Watergate burglars.

Coal strike

railroads and steel companies — are expected to feel the initial effect of the strike.

The Norfolk & Western Railway, the nation's second largest coal hauler, has already announced plans for layoffs once present coal stockpiles at mines have been shipped. And, the Penn Central, the largest rail carrier, says it stands to lose $5 million a week during the strike.

Interior Department officials say a strike of only two weeks would cut steel production by 25 per cent, with a cutback of up to 70 per cent forecast if the walkout continued into December.

A drop in steel production would ripple through the auto, appliance and construction industries. Electric power companies have coal reserves of several weeks but a long strike would eventually begin to have serious consequences.

The government estimates that 400,000 workers will lose their jobs after four weeks of a coal strike and 1.7 million after eight weeks.

Rain moved into Ohio ahead of a cold front Sunday night, and occasional showers are expected over the state today. The front is expected to move eastward across the state tonight, followed by cool air which will prevail throughout mid-week.

Cloudy skies will keep temperatures from rising above the upper 50s or 60s today. Lows tonight will be mostly in the 30s as the rain tapers off from the west.

Stock list marks time

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off .94 at 666.22, and losers held a very slight edge over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said uncertainty over how long the nationwide coal strike might last contributed to a general air of caution on Wall Street.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index eased .04 to 69.76.

Gold stocks fell back in profit-taking.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index slipped .05 to 39.58.

Michigan Sugar was the Amex's most-active issue, up 1⅜ at 16¾.

Israelis heighten austerity

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Slum dwellers rioted in protest against the government's new austerity program, but Premier Yitzhak Rabin warned that more severe measures will come soon.

The premier said in a televised speech Sunday that since the war last year, "arms have poured into the Arab countries and we have had to confront this increased strength.

"This will not be the last step," he declared. "We have to face all the struggles — military, political, economic and social. I do not claim for a minute that we have solved these problems."

To halt the drain on Israel's foreign currency reserves, the government early Sunday devalued the pound 43 per cent; increased the prices of food, gasoline and electricity; froze wages; put a six-month ban on imports of cars, shoes, television sets, tape recorders, beer and cement; levied new taxes on overseas travel, banks, insurance companies and capital gains.

The price of milk jumped from 15 to 25 cents a quart. Sugar tripled, from 16 to 48 cents a pound. Gasoline increased from $1.53 to $1.75 a gallon.

The pound dropped from 4.20 to 6.00 to the dollar.

Treasury officials said the program would add about 17 per cent to the cost of living, which already has risen 34 per cent this year.

Many people expected something of the sort and for the past week have been stocking up at supermarkets and gas stations. But in Tel Aviv's Haktiva slum area hundreds of rioters smashed windows Sunday, looted stores, wrecked 10 buses, stoned police and chanted slogans against the austerity program.

Riffe picks up Cuyahoga backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, claimed today to have picked up the support of the entire Democratic House delegation from Cuyahoga County in his attempt to become speaker.

Riffe, a 49-year-old insurance man starting his 9th term in the House, said he met with members of the state's largest delegation and received support from all seven incumbents and five newcomers elected in last Tuesday's election.

"I am hopeful my performance as speaker will justify their confidence in me," Riffe said.

He plans to run for speaker at a party caucus later this year against Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, a 28-year veteran who has predicted he will stave off the challenge and retain the powerful post.

Cuban embargo to be lifted

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The secretary-general of the Organization of American States says he is certain the OAS will vote to lift its 10-year-old diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba.

"We will have the 14 votes," said Galo Plaza. "All we need now is to agree on the precise wording of the resolution."

Voting could begin tonight at the OAS foreign ministers' meeting that began Friday. Twenty-one nations are entitled to vote, and a two-thirds majority is required for action.

A draft resolution presented by Venezuela, Colombia and Costa Rica calls for the lifting of the sanctions and includes a key clause "reaffirming the principle of nonintervention into the affairs of other states."

But some diplomats expressed doubt that agreement on the wording of the resolution would be reached.

Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay have said they will vote against ending sanctions. Nicaragua has said it is abstaining, and diplomatic sources said Haiti, which first was in favor of lifting the ban, now may abstain.

The United States, Brazil, Bolivia and Guatemala are still uncommitted. But Brazil and Bolivia have indicated they are willing to go along with the resolution once it gets two-thirds support.

State board eyes routine schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A routine agenda faced the state Board of Education today following completion of two days of preliminary hearings on proposed new teacher education standards.

Business at the board's regular monthly meeting included allocation of $490,000 to Columbus city schools for vocational construction, approval of $100,000 to five universities for preparing teachers of handicapped youth, and awarding $120,085 to 24 school districts for providing work-study opportunities to disadvantaged youth.

Hearings on teacher education reform were held Sunday and before today's meeting by a board committee. The chairperson, Martha W. Wise of Elyria, said the proposed standards were drawn up by a 30-member advisory committee.

The Board of Education will hold a public hearing on the new requirements Nov. 9 before considering them for adoption.

Major requirements in the proposals would provide prospective teachers with more and earlier in-school experiences, and clinical preparation in the diagnosis of learning difficulties and in the prescription of appropriate instructional strategies.

Colleges and universities would be required to reorganize teacher education courses, prepare all teachers for the teaching of reading, and provide lower faculty-student ratios to assure greater college supervision and evaluation of school-based work.

Tractor theft brings arrest

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP) — The arrest Sunday of an Ohio man hauling a $5,000 farm tractor and disc harrow left police hopeful they may have broken a tractor theft ring that has been operating in the South.

Police Chief Harold Kennedy said a patrolman's routine check at 2 a.m. resulted in the discovery of the farm equipment in the back of a truck. James T. Inman, 29, of Bethel was arrested for having no operator's license.

The tractor belonged to M. J. Eubanks of Albany, Ga., police said. Inman was to face a hearing today.

Start transit walkout

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bus service connecting Northern Kentucky with Cincinnati was suspended Sunday after members of the Amalgamated Transit Union walked off their jobs.

The walkout involved drivers and maintenance employes.

The local union rejected a new contract late Saturday with the Transit Authority of Northern Kentucky (TANK).

Both the union and transit company called action a wildcat strike.

The union's old, two-year contract expired at midnight Saturday. Union members are reported seeking a pay hike of about 60 cents per hour which would lift their wages to $5.01 an hour and equal the salary received by Queen City Metro drivers in Cincinnati.

George Grady, chairman of TANK, said he was advised that no strike vote was taken by the union's 140 members "and no strike has been authorized by the international union."

Thank You -

I want to thank the many people who supported and helped me in the recent election.

Being your Commissioner has been most gratifying. I want the best that is possible for all of Fayette County.

I will continue to be devoted to this task the next four years.

Thank you for your vote and continued confidence.

'49ers club' eyes Demo leadership

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— There's a "49ers Club" in the newly elected legislature that will seek to unseat the present Democratic leadership.

Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, also 49, will try to become speaker in a caucus, probably next month, against present Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire. Riffe is now speaker pro tem, the No. 2 job.

The two power struggles had taken shape earlier, but last Tuesday's election assuring Democrats of control of both houses gave it more significance. They will control the next Senate 21-12 and have an increased edge of 59-40 in the House compared to 58-41 presently.

The speaker's post is generally regarded as second in power only to that of the governor, which Riffe may seek if he is successful in his bid to defeat Lancione, his former roommate and friend of many years. The Scioto County insuranceman has been mentioned as a possible gubernatorial prospect in 1978.

As majority leader in the Senate, Ocasek also would have power and prestige and the kind of exposure that could someday mean higher office for him, although he claims no such ambitions.

Ocasek, noting Riffe is his same age, said "we're the 49ers . . . it will be our job to get Democratic programs through the legislature."

Calabrese and Lancione, reportedly both 67 although neither likes to tell his age, are not taking their challenges but say they are confident of retaining their posts. "I'm going to be the Democratic leader," said Calabrese, who recovered recently from surgery and a subsequent extended illness.

Lancione claims to have sufficient votes in the House caucus to ward off Riffe's challenge despite a rebellion on behalf of the speaker pro tem by two Toledo Democrats.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, and Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, are boosting Riffe with claims he already works long hours and weekends and does most of the speaker's duties anyway.

If the revolt comes off successfully, Quilter, now majority floor leader, reportedly would move into Riffe's present job. Wilkowski has been chairman of the House Judiciary Committee but quit that post when Lancione publicly scorned the rebellion.

Weather draws 400 exhibitors at weekend show

There was an excellent turnout for the Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association show this weekend. Warm, sunny weather induced some 200 exhibitors to set up displays outdoors in addition to a packed house inside.

The large turnout caught show officials unaware, and there were not enough exhibitors tickets available for all who set up. Tickets from past shows had to be used for some of the nearly 400 exhibitors.

All of the buildings with heating facilities were filed to capacity, and a tent with 21 tables was set up outside. Parking on the Fayette County Fairgrounds was packed, and many cars were parked along nearby streets.

No competition for guns or relics will be held during the winter shows. The competitive event will resume in April.

The December show will be held the first weekend, Dec. 7 and 8.

Malinta man drowns

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP)— Dragging operations in the Maumee River Sunday failed to recover the body of Steve Spangler, 23, of Malinta, and the Henry County sheriff's office said the effort would be resumed today.

The state of Ohio recently opened a foreign trade development office in Dusseldorf, West Germany, to help Ohio companies increase their share of the multi-billion dollar exporting market, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Opinion And Comment

Unanswered questions

Reaction to President Ford's appearance before a congressional panel to explain the Nixon pardon makes it evident that the outcome has left many people dissatisfied. We share this view. Too many significant questions are still unanswered. The House Judiciary subcommittee and perhaps its parent committee ought to look more deeply into this important matter.

President Ford is to be applauded - has been lavishly applauded by the subcommittee and others - for going to Congress and opening himself to inquiry on a touch subject. It is gratifying to have his categorical assurance that "there was no deal" between him and the disgraced former president.

But Mr. Ford's rather wistful hope that his account of the pardon and what led him to grant it when he did has "cleared the air" of suspicion and rumor has not been realized. His appearance at the hearing will not end the people's concern about Watergate and turn their thoughts to other problems, any more than the pardon itself did. In both cases, his expectations were wrong.

That is true in the present instance, it must be said in fairness, not only because the presidential response was inadequate but because subcommittee procedures were ineffective. For all Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan's wrist slap to the effect that the five-minute rule was standard practice, Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman was right: restricting each subcommittee member to five minutes did not allow enough time to dig into the important questions involved.

The subcommittee also fell short of meeting its responsibility on other counts. It did not precede the presidential appearance with the questioning of other witnesses which the situation demands. It did not call for some of the documents which might shed light on the circumstances of the pardon.

These shortcomings can still be remedied. The President's statement and response to the few substantive questions put to him has been helpful, but it is not enough. The Nixon pardon must be more fully explored if the rumors and suspicions to which Mr. Ford alluded are to be laid to rest.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Election changes little

WASHINGTON — That the outcome of the election will change anything, other than the political landscape looking to 1976, is an illusion that will not long survive the counting of the votes.

Issues were oversimplified or ignored in a campaign marked by yawning apathy and so when the Congress returns it is highly unlikely that any serious action will be taken on the growing threat to America's stability and well being.

The unbridled use of gasoline in the private motor car is priving with time running out that President Ford's voluntarism is simply not working. And that is directly related to the possibility — indeed the probability — of another Middle East war with another oil embargo.

The first move by a returning Congress should be to resolve the mess over foreign aid. That would include the $250 million for Egypt which Secretary of State Henry Kissinger intimated during his earlier shuttle diplomacy would be forthcoming. It would go to rebuild the ruins along the Suez Canal. Those ruins are untouched as Egypt's President Anwar Sadat is reported to anticipate another war making reconstruction futile.

Such a move would support Kissinger in his present effort to salvage the basis for negotiation that he achieved during his marathon diplomacy earlier this year. He goes back to the Middle East this time empty-handed.

Next in the order of priority should be stern measures to conserve gasoline. The reduction of a million barrels of oil a day will never be achieved by voluntarism. Gasoline rationing or an across-the-board cut in petroleum imports is essential even without the drastic consequences of a new embargo resulting from still another war.

Anyone who thinks this will happen is living in a dream world. It is the same old Congress with the same old men in control of the key committees and the key decisions under the committee system. These are not bad men. In fact, they are conscientious and for the most part well meaning. It just happens that they are prisoners of a past that takes no account of a world in the throes of revolutionary change.

The new Congress with even more top-heavy Democratic majorities that meets in January will be very much like the expiring 93rd. Although there may be exceptions, the same leaders and the same committee chairmen will be re-elected to their present posts.

Speaker Carl Albert first came to the House 26 years ago. He was elected majority leader in the 87th Congress and Speaker in the 92nd. A sad commentary on the sticky tangle between the executive and the legislative branches is that the vote on confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller to be Vice President is unlikely to come until some time in 1975. During this interval, the amiable Speaker would become President if Gerald Ford should not complete his term.

Mike Mansfield of Montana has been majority leader of the Senate since 1961. He is a decent human being who finds it difficult if not impossible to produce any semblance of unity with the satraps ruling over their own committee principalities.

One of the most notorious of these satraps is Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, elected to the Senate in 1950 and, thanks to seniority, made chairman of the finance committee in 1966. He bottled up the trade reform act which may now, after months and months of delay, reach the Senate floor for an uncertain fate.

One change has occurred. Sen. J. William Fulbright, defeated for re-election in the Democratic primary in Arkansas, was for 15 years chairman of the foreign relations committee. In that post, he performed invaluable service in subjecting foreign policy to searching analysis and criticism. Fulbright will be replaced, thanks to the seniority escalator, by Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama who is content to take a somnolent view of whatever comes along from the executive.

There may have been a time when this nation could affort two years of jockeying for position looking to a presidential election two years hence. That time has long since passed.

As we drift on a do-nothing course, the sound of the falls, the frightening events just ahead, grows louder and louder.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Don't plan on expanding activities unless sure that they are within wise limits and that you can handle the "extras" without deserting primary interests.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Be careful what you read into this day. It has fine potential, but all things must be handled with discretion.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Do the best overall job you can but be careful to differentiate between useful energy employment and wasted striving.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Beneficent lunar influences encourage all your endeavors — especially those along scientific lines. Some interesting communications indicated.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Call a meeting of those involved in pending projects if it could bring about better understanding, further progress. Your own "answers" could be incomplete.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Unexpected altercations and disturbances could throw you off course if you are not careful. But forwarned is forearmed, so be alert and do YOUR part to maintain harmony.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Unusual tact needed here — in domestic, social and business circles. Don't "make waves" or stir up dissension — only too easily done now if you are not alert.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may find some real values in seemingly unimportant offerings. Don't dismiss lightly. Neither make changes in matters now running smoothly.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You are always ambitious, and this day will open new areas in which to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, however, so be patient.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 30)

Don't wait too long before making up your mind where the time element is important. Highly favored: travel, long-term investments, outdoor interests and literary pursuits.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Be sure that your motives and meaning are clear to others. Don't take for granted that all of your associates are mind readers.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A good period for planning expansion of all your interests. A little more research into a project you may be considering could prove beneficial.

YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of ambition, straightforward action, persistence in working toward objectives and the talents needed to succeed — in almost any field of your choice. You are inventive and have an investigative mind; would make a brilliant scientist or detective. You should enjoy artistic pursuits, outdoor life, travel and social events, where your gregariousness and outgoing personality would make you the center of attraction. Whatever you do, you do wholeheartedly and intensely — which makes you a valuable ally or a dangerous enemy.

Fire training readied

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's new $3 million firemen's training academy, nearly two years from a formal opening, isn't being set up to do away with local training programs, Ohio's fire marshal says.

"There has been a lot of confusion and misunderstanding about the academy," said state Fire Marshal David Lucht.

"We're not out to abolish local training programs. We want to expand and enhance them."

First priority, he said, will be to determine what Ohio needs in fire training and to establish such programs.

Lucht said the five-building academy in suburban Reynoldsburg will be open on a tuition basis to all professional and volunteer firemen, and also will train in "the advanced techniques of fire-fighting, management and administration, arson investigation and other areas where we believe a lot is lacking."

Lucht said "the main thrust of the academy will be to determine the total needs of the state and train and educate fire fighters, a real effort to reduce the loss of life and property from fire."

Ohio has an estimated 44,000 firemen, 75 per cent of them unpaid volunteers who now get a basic 36-hour training course. Professional firemen are required under present law to receive a minimum of 160 hours.

Most of the current training is done locally. The training is designed to enable recruits to meet standards set by the state Department of Education, Lucht said.

Local governments are under pressure to provide training by the Insurance Services Office of Ohio, an organization of private insurance companies which sets rates for insurance around the state. The office sets lower insurance rates when training is provided.

The state regulates the office.

Ground-breaking for the academy, which is financed by state and federal revenue sharing money 50-50, almost coincided with the enactment by Congress of a bill establishing a U.S. Fire Prevention and Control Administration in the Department of Commerce.

President Ford signed the act late last month.

"It went almost unnoticed," said Lucht. "It's about the same thing we want to do, only on a national basis. It represents a real $57 million effort, the greatest ever made to promote fire safety."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her husband claims to be 18 and single

DEAR ABBY: First let me tell you that my husband is 38 and I am 36. We have been married for six years, after dating for eleven years. We wanted to be sure we were ready for marriage.

I was not snooping, because I am not that type, but before the Goodwill people took away an old trunk which had been stored in our attic for a long time, I looked through it, and came across about 200 letters, addressed to my husband in care of a post office box in a nearby town. (He has to go through that little town on his way to work.)

My curiousity got the best of me because these letters were in three different handwritings, all addressed to him in care of the same box number. Some were dated as far back as two years ago!

It seems he is corresponding with three young girls (13 and 14-year-olds) through some pen pal club. I don't know what he has written to them, but they think he is a single 18-year-old boy, interested in a romantic relationship.

He is college-educated and I only graduated from high school. He is a religious man, Abby, and respected in his community. Why would he do something like this? Is he sick? What should I do about it?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband could be sick. Tell him exactly how you came upon the letters and insist that he see his doctor. His behavior is symptomatic of a serious physical (and-or mental) illness which, if treated in time, can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42 year-old-man who is normal in every respect, but I am 4 ft. 11 and weigh 115. I am single and very lonely.

I heard that there was a national convention of The Little People of America in Ashville, N.C. last July. I would have gone, but it was over by the time I learned about it.

If you use this in the paper, please omit my name and town because some normal-sized people tend to make fun of us little people although they mean no harm.

If you have any information about this club for little people, I would certainly appreciate it.

LITTLE GUY

DEAR LITTLE: I'll try. Anyone out there want to do a lot of little people a big favor? Write to Abby with the information and I'll print it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to the same man for 30 years. When he picked a wife, he wanted a church-going girl who didn't drink, smoke or dance. One who was quiet, modest and not sexy.

I was that girl. I gave him two children (now 28 and 26, both married). Now my husband has decided that he no longer loves me. Instead he wants a younger woman who is sexy, can dance and "turn him on." He doesn't care if she smokes or drinks either.

Behind my back he had divorce papers served on me. We are both 52. He never let me work because he wanted me to stay home and be a full-time wife and mother, so I have no skills. I don't want a divorce, and am contesting it. I left my home and am living with my daughter. I attend church regularly, and I still love him regardless.

The lawyers say we could live separately and come and go as we please, but that's against my way of life. I don't believe in divorce, so what do you advise?

MARRIED FOR LIFE

DEAR MARRIED: You may prevent your husband from getting a divorce, but you can't force him to live with you or "love" you. Maybe if you hang on long enough, he'll change his mind and return to you, but you have no guarantees.

In the meantime, instead of stubbornly clinging to a onesided marriage, why not find something constructive to do with your time? Like volunteer work? At 52, you are still young enough. Life is short, make it sweet.

Baptist Society announces plans for holidays

The Sugar Creek Baptist Women's Missionary Society held their November meeting in the home of Mrs. Harry Campbell with Mrs. Mander Boggs the assisting hostess. Mrs. Campbell led devotions pertaining to Thanksgiving, "Thank You God, For Everything," by Helen Steiner Rice and "Try Being Thankful For You" by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Mrs. Gene Donohoe opened the meeting and reports were given by Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Walter Carman. Mrs. Harold Sprague reported that several had read the Book of Daniel.

An interesting letter from Richard and LaRue Rodine, missionaries in Kodiak, Alaska, was read by Mrs. Walter Henk. The Society agreed to send each of the church's missionaries a cash donation for Christmas. Mrs. Charles Mills, White Cross chairman, reported that the overland quota to Rev. Hardy at the Dayton Christian Center had been mailed, and a thank you had been received. It was also reported that two members had attended World Community Day observance in First Presbyterian Church and that four had attended and participated in the Baptist Women's Day of Prayer held in Immanuel Baptist Church.

Members were asked to bring a toy for the gift exchange for the Christmas meeting, Dec. 5 in the home of Mrs. Henk, with Mrs. Sprague the cohostess. Members are also asked to bring a gift for the scholarship student and the shutin of the church.

The regular offering love gift and least coin were collected. Mrs. Campbell led an interesting program concerning Baptist missionaries in Asia. "Signs of Hope," a taped interview by Bob Delano, staff member of the Overland Missions, was heard. The group learned many facts about mission work being done in India, Africa, Burma, Indonesia, Hong Kong and Thailand.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Boggs to Mrs. Carman, Mrs. Charles Temple, Mrs. Bob Ellars, Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Henk, Mrs. Donald Breakfield, Mrs. Donahoe, Mrs. Don Reeves, Mrs. Olan Bentley, Mrs. Michale Campbell and Mrs. Harry Campbell.

McCoy and Mrs. Warner told of visiting the Fayette Progressive School and the Halloween party with the children. Punch was taken along with cookies.

Donations were made for a Thanksgiving basket.

Mrs. Dill and Mrs. Liston reported on their trip to the CCL Convention.

Mrs. George Naylor, chairman of the husbands Christmas party, announced the date is Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. A social hour will be at 7 p.m. preceding the dinner. Reservations must be made by Nov. 15. There will be no gift exchange at the party, but members will bring gifts for children at the Fayette Progressive School. Mrs. William Fletcher, Mrs. Earl Hartley and Mrs. Clyde Palmer will be the assisting hostesses.

For the program Rev. Allen Puffenberger was guest speaker. The Rev. Mr. Puffenberger is associate minister at Grace United Methodist Church.

He also played a recording of the parable, 'The Prodigal Son' made by Dr. Clarence Jordan, a Baptist minister who has a doctor's degree in theology, majoring the Greek New Testament, and a degree in agriculture. A very interesting question and answer period followed.

It was announced that the January meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Julia Williams, 823 Yeoman St., instead of in the home of Mrs. Allen O. McClung. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Climer, Mrs. Willard Greer and Mrs. Robert W. Fries.

'Spring flowering bulbs' Garden Club program topic

The Washington Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Orville Hurtt with 11 members present. Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, president, opened the session and roll call was answered by each naming something she saw from her window.

Mrs. Donald Meredith and Mrs. Wilson reported on the recent Region 16 meeting held at the Mount Sterling Methodist Church.

Pamphlets were given to each member on "Planting to Attract Birds," and the new yearbooks were given also. The trip to Kingwood Center was discussed and pictures from the trip shown.

Nov. 13 will be a workshop held at the Fish and Game Lodge beginning at 10 a.m. Mabel Shoup of Dayton will be guest speaker and demonstrate 50 Christmas flower arrangements. A carry-in dinner will be featured and each must bring her own table service and a guest.

Mrs. Wilson will be hostess for the carry-in Christmas dinner. Names were drawn for a $2.00 gift exchange, and officers of the club will be the hostesses. Each member is to bring a door swag or centerpiece for the exhibit. The date will be announced later.

Mrs. Edwin Hidy gave the program on "Spring Flowering Bulbs." She read a poem and said that no type of garden flower gives so much for so little care and effort as the group of plants known to the amateur as bulbs.

One may start the succession of year-around blooms with the snow-drop and similar small plants, daffodils, tulips, iris, gladiolia, lilies, tuberous begonias, cannas and dahlias.

A true bud is really a bud containing in it the flowers in miniature. It needs only warmth, moisture and the means of absorbing the moisture (roots) to grow and flower. It is composed of layers of overlapping scales and increases chiefly by division. The scales divide from the parent plant and these form new bulbs, actually parts from the old plant. Among these is the lily.

The corm, such as gladioli, is solid flesh. It blooms for a single season, and an entirely new corm grows about it to take its place. In addition to this it forms bulblets around its base which are also new growths.

Mrs. Eugene Cook won a contest and also the evening award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hurtt and Mrs. Herbert Dawes. A house plant exchange was enjoyed by all.

Thanksgiving theme

Mrs. Keith Zimmerman was hostess for the November meeting of the Bookwalter Ladies Aid. Mrs. Doris Garringer, president, opened the meeting with a poem by Frank Grubbs entitled "Autumn Time."

Mrs. Esther Stockwell gave devotions by reading Psalm 100 with readings from Daily Blessings.

Mrs. Marilyn Marks and Mrs. Leona Edwards made reports and all answered roll call by naming a favorite tree. A program and flower committee and news reporter were reported, and the Christmas party will be Dec. 12 with carry-in noon luncheon.

"First Harvest" was read by Mrs. Esther Stockwell; Mrs. Jean Warner read "Our American Heritage" and Mrs. Louise Vannorsdall read "Over the River and Through the Woods," all pertaining to Thanksgiving. For the closing, Mrs. Garringer read "Make Every Day Thanksgiving Day."

Mrs. Marks assisted in the hospitalities.

Coal expansion hit by uncertainty

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The country has enough coal to satisfy any demands at 1972 prices, but uncertainties are preventing expansion of production and consumption, a federal Energy Administration (FEA) official said Sunday.

Mark Silverman, Region 4 deputy administrator, told a legislative interim committee on coal mining that the Project Independence report to be released Tuesday places coal as the "primary candidate for occupying the crucial role" in the program and suggests "West Virginia should act as a prime catalyst."

The report for Project Independence, which aims to decrease the country's dependence on imported energy sources, is due on the first day of a now-inevitable United Mine Workers strike.

Silverman said the FEA would have only the limited role in a strike of allocating substitute fuels to industries and utilities capable of switching.

But he said that sufficient substitute fuel is not available even to replace shortages of natural gas that are expected this winter.

"We're going to be in for some very severe problems this winter, even without a coal strike," he said.

Coal's central role in any American energy program is due to its abundance, he said; the nation has 350 years of coal that is minable with present technology.

Today supply cannot equal demand because of recent strike-anticipatory stockpiling and because of the unexpected increase in demand last winter, he said.

"The present shortage could clear up in three to five years," he said, except for the uncertainties of capital shortages and air pollution standards, which are stalling increased production and consumption.

Big steel fears UMW walkout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry, bolstered by a no-strike agreement with steelworkers and headed toward record profits through the first three quarters of 1974, faces a major threat from the impending coal strike.

The consensus of industry analysts was that if the strike lasts more than two weeks, layoffs of thousands of steelworkers will begin and production will be curtailed significantly.

Coal company and union representatives have been meeting in Washington and reported progress Sunday night toward an agreement. But a settlement was not likely until midweek, after the start of a nationwide strike. The miners' contract expires at midnight tonight.

Even if a tentative agreement is reached, rank-and-file members must approve it before the strike ends under the union's no contract-no work tradition. Ratification is expected to take eight to 10 days.

The coal strike would be especially costly to the steelmakers if it causes shutdowns.

During shutdowns, the companies face rapidly rising costs for taxes, bonded indebtedness and machinery depreciation. And the cost of closing down before and restarting after a strike can be staggering.

That's why the no-strike agreement signed last spring with the million-member United Steelworkers Union was especially significant.

While most companies were reluctant to discuss their coal reserves for competitive reasons, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated the industrywide coal stockpile at about 30 days' supply with half the steelmakers with less than 20 days' supply on hand.

Contingency plans vary among steelmakers, who consume one of every six tons of coal mined.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. says it will operate normally for the first week and reassess the situation after that.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, plans to slow production by 25 per cent immediately and 50 per cent if the strike goes past two weeks.

The impact of the strike will be minimized in the steel industry if the mills can keep operating and avoid the costly shutdown and eventual restarts.

A cutback by steelmakers eventually would have a crippling effect on related industries, such as automobiles.

But power companies would be able to stretch their energy supplies somewhat by not having to serve the steel companies.

Abortions raising questions

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The growing number of abortions since the 1973 Supreme Court decision and new surgical techniques have raised a question in some legal minds: When does abortion become murder?

A number of prosecutors watched Pittsburgh last week for the outcome of a coroner's inquest into allegations that an internationally known obstetrician aborted a living child in the eighth month of pregnancy and then allowed it to die.

Dr. Leonard Laufe, head of obstetrics and gynecology at Western Pennsylvania Hospital, was exonerated of any criminal responsibility in the case on Thursday when the coroner's jury ruled that the child was stillborn.

"With the new surgical techniques employed in abortions in the third trimester, we are now in an area where you can have an abortion with a live fetus," said John Tighe, first assistant in the Allegheny County district attorney's office.

"If the child is born alive, no matter how slender the life, it is entitled to protection," he added.

Prosecutors in Baltimore and Boston were in touch with the Pittsburgh prosecutors for guidance in handling similiar cases in their cities, Tighe said.

Central U.S. reports rain

Rain and clouds, stretching from the Great Lakes to the central Gulf coast, divided the nation today.

An inch of rain drenched Lafayette, La., within six hours Sunday night and Green Bay, Wis., sloshed in ¾ of an inch.

In Arkansas, a bridge in Little Rock and a highway near Fort Smith were closed because of flooding.

The northwestern coastal states and plains and the northern Rockies also had cloudy skies. A few light rain and snow showers hit Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

MT senior to participate in history contest finals

A Miami Trace High School student is among some 100 Ohio seniors who will participate in the finals of the 28th annual American History Contest at Ohio University Nov. 15 and 16.

David J. Louis, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Louis, White Road, will represent Fayette County in competition for a four-year scholarship to the university.

Nearly 11,000 students took a preliminary examination with the high score in each county becoming eligible for the finals. In addition, those who did not have the highest score in their county but finished among the top 10 in the state became eligible.

The competition was initiated in 1947 by former Ohio University president John C. Baker and is now sponsored by the school and the Ohio University Fund, Inc.

First price is $100 and a full-tuition scholarship to Ohio University, renewable each year if the winner maintains a B average. Second prize is $75; third prize, $50, and fourth through tenth place winners will receive $20.

While in Athens, the finalists will be guests of the university and stay in the Convocation Center. An open house for parents of the students is scheduled for the afternoon of Nov. 15 at the home of President and Mrs. Harry B. Crewson.

Royal family attends rites

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family have participated under the watchful eye of the police in ceremonies honoring the dead of World Wars I and II.

Uniformed and plainclothes police were present at the Cenotaph, a monument in Whitehall, to guard against terrorist bombs. More than 20 persons have been killed in England in the past year in such bombings, attributed by police to the Irish Republican Army.

NURSES FROM FAYETTE Memorial Hospital recently attended an "Introduction to Basic Arrhythmia Recognition Class" sponsored by the Fayette, Clinton and Highland County Heart Branches and the Central Ohio Heart Chapter, Inc. (COHC). The class was held at the Elks Hall, Wilmington. Under the co-ordination of Mary Tompkins, R.N., COHC, the sessions help train nurses in cardiac monitoring. These nurses will attend a second portion of the workshop Nov. 13. Shown above from left to right are registered nurses Jane Patton, Mary K. West, Cary Sue Whitaker, Lora Prater and Mary Tompkins, instructor. The local Heart Association provided funds for each nurse to attend the class.

Fischer may lose world chess title

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Bobby Fischer's chess crown will go to a Russian if the dispute between the American and the International Chess Federation isn't settled by April 1, the president of the federation says.

Dr. Max Euwe said in an interview Sunday he will strip the 31-year-old American of his crown unless he agrees to defend it under the scoring rules set by the federation, which is known as Fide.

"At the moment we are in a complete stalemate," Euwe said.

At its June meeting in Nice, France, the Fide congress rejected Fischer's demand for a new scoring system for the 1975 title match. When he learned of this, Fischer sent a telegram to the federation's headquarter's in Amsterdam, saying his demands were "non-negotiable" and renouncing his title.

"We advised him that he had until April 1 to make up his mind, and appealed to him to reconsider his position in the interest of the chess playing world. But so far the world champion has not reacted to our plea," Euwe said.

Euwe, 73 and a former world champion, said Fischer "could go on claiming he is the real world champion, but that is something he should prove by playing."

"I hope, I even expect, a solution can be reached," he added. "I know Fischer to be a fair player and I feel rather confident he will drop his demands if we succeed in convincing him they are unreasonable."

Until Fischer defeated Boris Spassky for the championship in 1972, the world title was a Soviet monopoly. Now Soviet grandmasters Anatoly Karpov and Viktor Korchnoi are battling in Moscow for the right to challenge Fischer. Karpov has a commanding 3-1 lead in the 20th game of a 24-game series. Sixteen games were draws. The first player to win five games or the player with the most victories at the end of the series earns the right to challenge Fischer.

Common mart hikes dairy output

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy production in the European Common Market is continuing to climb and may send more cheese and possibly more butter and other milk products into the world market within a few years, a report by the Agriculture Department said today.

Consumption of dairy products by Europeans is not expected to keep pace with milk production gains that are expected to average 2 to 3 per cent annually over the next five years, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

"The result will be an increase in that part of the supply seeking an export outlet," the report said. "The preferred form for the potentially expanded export supply is most likely to be cheese."

European dairy manufacturers utilize large-scale, highly mechanized plants for cheese production and more are under construction, the report said. It was written by Edward Karpoff, a foreign commodity analyst in the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Surplus dairy production in Europe, encouraged by high government subsidy guarantees, has been a perennial problem for American dairy farmers. Huge increases in import quotas last year and in early 1974 have been blamed in part for the financial problems confronting U.S. milk producers.

President Ford has assured farmers that no further increases in dairy quotas will be undertaken without full discussion with the industry. But the report today indicated the huge buildup of European dairy stocks will be a potential problem for U.S. farmers at least through 1980 unless new solutions are found.

Five of the Common Market's nine countries are mainly involved in the dairy buildup: Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Denmark.

Rose Avenue PTO carnival raises $1,800

The annual Rose Avenue School dinner and carnival held Saturday night has added over $1,800 to the school's Parent Teacher Organization treasury.

The PTO sponsored dinner drew a tremendous response from area residents, and the school was packed throughout the evening.

Following dinner, those who attended enjoyed several carnival games including children's games and their own form of bingo. Popcorn and cotton candy were available.

Winners of the games were given prizes donated by local merchants. Prizes for the large drawing had also been donated by local businesses.

First prize in the drawing, a quarter of beef, was won by Joanne Estle, 702 Campbell St. Second prize, a 10-speed bicycle, was won by Larry Ging, Rt. 2, Washington C.H. A toaster oven was won by Dianna Smith, 1221 E. Temple St., and I.L. Grubb, 511 E. Temple St., won a hair dryer and styler.

The PTO expressed its appreciation to local groups which donated much of the food as well as many of the prizes.

Bus crash injures 20 near Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A bus with 40 football fans aboard overturned at a highway interchange just east of here Sunday night, injuring 20 occupants, authorities said.

One person, J.R. Schwab of Indianapolis, was listed in critical condition at Community Hospital in Indianapolis.

The bus was chartered by Indianapolis radio station WIBC and was returning to the Hoosier capital from a Cincinnati Bengal's home football game in Ohio.

A Marion County sheriff's deputy said the accident happened at 9:41 p.m. as the bus turned from Interstate 465 onto Interstate 70.

Also admitted to Community Hospital were Judy Gootee, 35, Indianapolis, and William Russell, Indianapolis.

Mrs. Gootee was listed in fair condition with facial cuts and Russell was in serious condition with head and shoulder injuries. Schwab was said to be in shock suffering from head injuries.

Thirty-eight persons were taken to Community Hospital and one to Methodist Hospital in downtown Indianapolis. It was not immediately known how many were admitted.

Authorities said the driver, Clyde F. Jordan, 49, Indianapolis, told them his steering went out and the bus went out of control on a rain-slick exit ramp.

The vehicle laid on its side for about 30 minutes and several passengers were trapped inside.

Discotheque

has hit all the large city theaters and been on television already," Chakeres commented. "Many of my patrons in Washington C.H. have seen it by that time and that's the reason there were only two people in the audience Tuesday night viewing "What's Up Doc," with Barbara Streisand and Ryan O'Neal. I was losing money and the theater wasn't fulfilling its entertainment purpose in the area. It was time for a change!"

Chakeres didn't decide on creating "Sounds Unlimited, Discotheque" Tuesday night. The idea had been in the back of his mind for the last five months, during which he traveled around getting ideas for a dance-hall establishment from places such as "2001" in Columbus, "The She" in Dayton and many other spots in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana; plus, through correspondence with people in Florida Las Vegas, Nev.

Then one evening, Chakeres and a friend named Gregg McNany, sat down and found themselves echoing each other about the proposed dream. McNany, who has only been a Washington C.H. resident for a year, had also been receptive to the lack of diverse entertainment in the Washington C.H. area. He decided to put his "marketing-consultant" occupation on the shelf for awhile in order to become a full partner with Chakeres in constructing "Sounds Unlimited Discotheque."

Quite unlike Chakeres, who has been in the entertainment business since the age of five (he sold popcorn and helped sweep the floor for his theater-owner father(, McNancy has had no previous entertainment experience; however, he is learning quickly from Chakeres' who at the age of 18, managed five movie houses in Springfield, while attending Wittenberg University, working toward a degree in engineering.

Chakeres' discotheque will run him around $100,000 to create the plush, entertainment-plus atmosphere he desires.

"THERE WILL be something for everyone here no matter what age. You can dance, you can play games, you can watch the old movies on the walls and most of all be entertained for five and a half hours in exchange for $2 at the door. Probably the greatest advantage will be not having to drive to Dayton or Columbus or Cincinnati in order to find such entertainment the people of Washington C.H. will now have access to," Chakeres said.

The discotheque will be "jumping from 7:30 p.m. through midnight on weekdays and until 1 a.m. or 1:30 a.m. on the weekends. Matinees are scheduled for the younger crowd from 1:30 p.m. through 4:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sundays. Children will be charged a dollar at the door during these afternoon performances.

Chakeres is planning to give the records and tapes an occasional rest, in place of live bands. He stated he already has a group under contract for the weekend matinees.

Chakeres and McNany summed things up when they agreed, "At the end of the month, Columbus won't have anything on us. Washington C.H. will have a place to boogie too!"

Lions grab five spots

Panthers lead SCOL selections

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

With Miami Trace heading the list, Fayette County claims 12 first team selections on the 1974 All-South Central Ohio League team. The Panthers, who tied for the co-championship with Circleville, spotted seven players on the team, while Washington Court House claimed five.

Circleville grabbed six positions on the all-league team. Greenfield placed four players on the team and Wilmington had two. Unioto and Hillsboro each had one player selected to the squad.

Eight players were repeats on the squad. Returning to the team were Greg Cobb and Jay Mossbarger of Miami Trace, Larry Dumford and Jeff Brown of Washington Court House, Alan Underwood and Scott Bowman of Circleville, Jackie Watson of Wilmington and Gary Barr of Greenfield.

Fayette County also claimed the captains of this year's team. Mossbarger, who is a tight end, was chosen as the honorary captain of the offensive unit. Cornerback Gilbert Sparkman of the Blue Lions won the selection as honorary captain of the defense.

Mossbarger and Cobb were the only players to be selected both offensively and defensively in the balloting. Mossbarger is a tight end on offense and an end on defense. Cobb, who is a junior, was named to the tackle spot on offense and as a linebacker on defense. This was the first year players could be selected both ways on the team.

In the offensive backfield are the three runners who crossed the 1,000-yard barrier this season - Watson of Wilmington, Biff Bumgarner of Circleville and Jeff Sagar of Miami Trace. Watson, who was honored as a safety last season, picked up 1,343 yards this year for the Hurricane. This was the third time Watson was named to the all-league team. Bumgarner, a junior, picked up 1,208 yards overall and 979 yards in six league games. Sagar rounded out the year with 1,005 yards.

There was a total of 18 seniors on the SCOL's dream team. Eight juniors made the squad and there were no sophomores or freshman.

Wilmington and Greenfield each had four honorable mention selections. Miami Trace, Washington Court House and Circleville each had three, while Unioto placed two on the honorable mention team. Hillsboro did not receive any honorable mention selections.

The first team members will be honored at the All-SCOL football banquet on Thursday. The banquet will be held at Washington Senior High School beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Hayes irate over officials, Spartans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes blames the top-ranked Buckeyes' 16-13 loss to Michigan State on dirty tactics by the Spartans and poor officiating.

"In practice we don't expect dirty football," the volatile coach said on his weekly television program late Saturday night. "You can't run your plays when you can't get your center off the ground."

Hayes charged that members of the Michigan State squad held down his players in an attempt to keep the Buckeyes from running a final play from just short of the goalline in Saturday's regionally televised game at East Lansing.

And Hayes contended the officials erred in not calling time.

"There were 26 seconds left and we couldn't get one play off," the Ohio State coach said. "They (the Spartans) kept us down on the ground. We couldn't get our men up."

Hayes charged that Steve Myers, his center, was held by the facemask to keep him on the ground.

"When there's that much of a pileup, the officials should call a time out," Hayes said. "That's where they blew it.

"I bitterly resent there was no effort to get our players unpiled. It was grossly unfair to our players.

"I may be bitter toward officials, but there are too many games decided by officials," he said.

Several Ohio State players appeared on the television show, and Hayes asked Scott Dannelley if he had been held.

"Otto Smith was holding me down," Dannelley replied. "He had my legs and hands."

Quarterback Cornelius Greene, asked by Hayes why he didn't run a play before time expired, said, "No. 71 was holding Scott down. I tried to help him get up."

Although Hayes has steadfastly refused to call this the greatest team in his 24 seasons at Ohio State, he told his television audience:

"Up until today, I thought it was our greatest team, especially on offense.

"A great, great season was smashed to smithereens. Now we've got to get ready to play two more great games and see where that takes us."

Ohio State, second in the Big Ten at 5-1 behind Michigan at 6-0, plays Iowa Saturday before facing the Wolverines Nov. 23 in Columbus.

Bengals win on Ken Anderson's heroics

On a day when two National Football League quarterbacks bordering on 40 years of age were pitching it up there with the best of them, young Ken Anderson proved to be just that — the best of them.

Anderson, who was eight years old when Sonny Jurgensen and Len Dawson each stepped back into the NFL pocket for the first time in 1957, put on a dazzling display of passing accuracy to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Anderson, 25 and in his fourth pro season out of tiny Augustana College, completed 15 of his first 16 passes to set a consecutive completion record of 16 over two games and 20 of 22 passes — a new NFL efficiency record.

"Anderson was superb," said Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown. "But then, that's the way he usually is."

But threading his passes through the Steelers' defense wasn't all Anderson was called on to do. He also sprinted to the sidelines to make a victory-saving tackle on Mike Wagner after the Steeler safety had scooped up a loose ball in the fourth quarter and was racing toward the game-tying touchdown.

And all this came after Pittsburgh's Glen Edwards had temporarily knocked Anderson out of the game with a vicious tackle.

In the rest of the NFL, it was Dallas 20, San Francisco 14; Washington 27, Philadelphia 20; Denver 17, Baltimore 6; Green Bay 20, Chicago 3; Oakland 35, Detroit 13; Los Angeles 21, Atlanta 0; Miami 21, New Orleans 0; Houston 21, Buffalo 9; Cleveland 21, New England 14; the New York Jets 26, the New York Giants 20 in overtime, and San Diego 14, Kansas City 7.

Redskins 27, Eagles 20

Sonny Jurgensen, whose aching knees and damaged thigh probably make him feel older than his 40 years, still has a spry right arm. He hit Charley Taylor with a 30-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter to rally Washington past Philadelphia.

Taylor, who grabbed nine passes including the game-winner with 2:15 left in the game, became the third all-time leading receiver in the NFL.

Chargers 14, Chiefs 7

Lenny Dawson, who has celebrated 39 birthdays, had a day worth celebrating if only his team had won. Dawson passed for 381 yards but was beaten by rookie Jesse Freitas' 71-yard tie-breaking touchdown bomb to Gary Garrison.

Dolphins 21, Saints 0

With the Dolphins' victory, paced by Bob Griese's three first-half touchdown passes and a hammerlock defense, they're back on top with an eye on their third straight Super Bowl crown.

"Our defense was outstanding," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "Our offense was great in the first half."

Browns 21, Patriots 14

The Patriots elected to open the game by kicking into the wind so that the Browns would have to "start off running the ball," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

They got a lot more running than they bargained for as little Greg Pruitt started running with the kickoff at his 12 and didn't stop until he reached the Patriots' end zone. Pruitt later dashed 25 yards with a fourthquarter punt to set up Cleveland's tie-breaking touchdown drive, culminated by Ken Brown's four-yard run.

Oilers 21, Bills 9

The Bills, riding a high from their exciting victory over New England last week, came to a crushing low Sunday, losing to the Oilers.

Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini threw a 13-yard scoring strike to Mack Alston and handed off for touchdown runs of 13 yards by Willie Rodgers and nine by Vic Washington.

"We're back in the pack now," said Buffalo Coach Lou Saban, whose club is tied with the awesome Dolphins, both with 7-2 records.

Jets 26, Giants 20

If nothing else, the Jets proved to be the better New York club on Sunday, Nov. 10. But it took five periods to decide this intra-city squabble between a team from Queens, N.Y., and another from New Haven, Conn.

Gimpy-legged Joe Namath, who passed for 236 yards — to Giant quarterback Craig Morton's 237 — uncharacteristically rolled four yards for the game-tying touchdown, then passed five yards with 6:53 gone in the overtime for victory.

Rams 21, Falcons 0

"It didn't look to me like there was a 21-point difference," said Atlanta's Marion Campbell, making his head coaching debut. But only Campbell, replacing the fired Norm Van Brocklin, and the point spread bettors will see it that way.

Upsets dominate college scene

When is a touchdown not a touchdown? When the play starts after the final gun ... and when it's an illegal play, anyway.

Both those things happened to No. 1-ranked Ohio State Saturday, although in the confusion over whether or not time had expired before Ohio State's Brian Baschnagel picked up a loose ball and darted into the end zone one important fact was somewhat overlooked — the play would been nullified by an illegal procedure penalty and would not have been rerun since a game can end on an infraction by the offensive team.

"It was the ruling of the back judge and the field judge that time had expired before the last play," Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke said Sunday night in the wake of Michigan State's controversial 16-13 triumph over Ohio State.

"But the referee also told me they were not set for a full second before the snap. The field judge was ready to throw the flag, but he didn't because the game was over."

And that seemed to put a damper on Coach Woody Hayes' claim that "they (the players) say there were still two seconds on the clock when the ball was snapped. The ball was fumbled by the quarterback on the exchange, Baschnagel picked it up and took it into the end zone."

That was the biggest upset on one the looniest days in an already ridiculous college football season, a day that left many of the bowl committees looking like candidates for the funny farm, although Ohio State's closest challengers made their moves to supplant the Buckeyes in the ratings.

Oklahoma, runner-up to Ohio State in The Associated Press poll, battered Missouri 37-0; third-ranked and Orange Bowlbound Alabama destroyed Louisiana State 30-0 and No. 4 Michigan shaded Illinois 14-6 and took a one-game lead over Ohio State in the Big Ten's Rose Bowl race. After that, though, the roof fell in:

Southern Methodist 18, fifthranked Texas A&M 14; Georgia 17, sixth-ranked Sugar Bowlbound Florida 16; North Carolina State 12, seventh-ranked Cotton Bowl-bound Penn State 7; Baylor 34, 12th-ranked Texas 24; Brigham Young 21, 16th ranked Arizona State 18; Kentucky 38, Peach Bowl-bound Vanderbilt 12; Tenth-ranked Auburn 24, Sun Bowl-bound Mississippi State 20, and Clemson 54, Sun Bowl-bound North Carolina 32.

Eighth-ranked Notre Dame, headed for the Orange Bowl and a rematch with Alabama, and No. 15 Houston, which will oppose N.C. State in the AstroBluebonnet Bowl, had the weekend off while ninth-ranked Nebraska, Florida's Sugar Bowl foe, disposed of Iowa State 23-13 and No. 11 Southern California moved into the Pacific-8 Conference lead and the Rose Bowl driver's seat by trouncing Stanford 34-10.

Miami of Ohio, rated No. 13 and reportedly set for the Tangerine Bowl, wrapped up its second consecutive Mid-American Conference crown by edging Kent State 19-17. Maryland, No. 14 and headed for the Liberty Bowl, crushed Villanova 41-0 and Fiesta Bowl-bound Oklahoma State, ranked No. 17, trimmed Kansas State 29-5.

Rounding out The Second Ten, No. 18 California walloped Washington 52-26; Pitt, tied for 19th with Texas Tech, whipped Temple 35-24 and Tech blanked Texas Christian 28-0. Tech has accepted a bid to the Peach Bowl ... on the condition it doesn't somehow back into the Southwest Conference title and Cotton Bowl berth that nobody seems to want.

Trailing 13-3 in the fourth quarter, Michigan State battled back to overtake Ohio State on a 44-yard pass from Charley Baggett to Mike Jones and Levi Jackson's 88-yard run with just over three minutes left.

Oklahoma's Jim Littrell romped for 155 yards, Joe Washington added 143 and a touchdown and Grant Burget tallied twice as the Sooners rushed for 498 yards against Missouri.

Meanwhile, Alabama used the strong running of Willie Shelby and a 29-yard fumble return by Ricky Davis to post its 41st triumph in the last 42 regular-season games and hand LSU its worst setback since 1963 and its worst shutout defeat in 13 seasons under Coach Charlie McClendon.

Gordon Bell ran eight yards for one score and Dennis Franklin smashed over from a yard out to give Michigan a 140 first-half lead and the Wolverines held on to defeat Illinois.

The Southwest Conference chase remained jumbled when SMU upset frontrunning Texas A&M. Oscar Roan picked up a teammate's fumble and raced 14 yards for one touchdown, Ricky Wesson darted 20 yards for another and Louie Kelcher and Steve Morton led an inspired defense.

Baylor moved into second place, one-half game behind the Aggies, by defeating Texas' six-in-a-row champs for the first time since 1956 as Neal Jeffrey threw two touchdown passes and ran for one score.

Georgia's defeat of Florida lifted the Bulldogs into second place in the Southeastern Conference, one game behind Alabama.

Fullback Stan Fritts scored one touchdown and passed 22 yards to Pat Hovance for another as N.C. State kayoed Penn State. Freshman Monte Anthony ran for two scores and led Nebraska past Iowa State. And Secdrick McIntyre's 54-yard run in the third period — his second touchdown — enabled Auburn to withstand two late Mississippi State scores.

Anthony Davis scored twice and passed for a third TD as Southern Cal drubbed Stanford and took a one-game lead in the Pac-8. Dave Draudt's 39-yard field goal with 10 seconds left lifted Miami over Kent State.

Tim Wilson's two touchdowns paced Maryland past Villanova and Gary Sheide's two scoring passes enabled BYU to edge Arizona State and maintain its half-game lead over Arizona in the Western Athletic Conference.

Bob Shephard's 83-yard interception return highlighted Oklahoma State's rout of Kansas State. Steve Bartkowski fired touchdown passes of 56 and 43 yards and Howard Strickland scored three times — once on a 68-yard run — in California's romp over Washington.

Freshman Elliott Walker, subbing for injured All-American Tony Dorsett, rushed for 169 yards and four touchdowns in leading Pitt over Temple. And sub quarterback Don Roberts directed four scoring drives as Texas Tech trounced Texas Christian.

Ten teams participated in the event. Taking second was the team of Gene Heath, Donald Long, John Arbogast and Jim Kirk with a 67.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 67

The meeting of Boy Scout Troop 67 was opened by Greg Holford giving the Pledge of Allegiance. Larry Detty followed this by giving the Scout Oath and Doug Binegar the Scout Laws.

We were told that next weekend is to be the monthly campout, to be held at Camp Ki Yi Ro, near Lancaster. The cost is $3.00 and there is a patch which may be obtained for making the trip for an extra $1.00.

Breakfast tickets are to be all turned in on Saturday. Scouts are to work when their mothers do and the tickets are $1.75 for adults, and $1.00 for children.

Patrols then went into patrol corners to get suggestions to help improve the Wednesday night meetings. Senior patrol leader John Milstead gave the Scout Benediction.

A game of steal the bacon was played and the score was 20 to 21.

Jeff Matthews, our newest member, passed all the requirements for the Scout Progress Award.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	7♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead - ace of spades.

Marty Cohn of Atlanta, Georgia, was playing in a national team of four championship several years ago and held the South hand.

Cohn is well known for his psychic bids, and on top of that he is the foremost advocate of opening the bidding with a three-card major suit, even with good hands. His partners are barred from casually raising his opening major suit bids — unless they are willing to incur his considerable wrath — with less than four or, preferably, five trumps.

When it came Cohn's turn to bid on this deal — after two passes — he turned to his left-hand opponent, Mike Moss of New York, and asked which one of his teammates would be holding the South hand at the other table.

This was a reasonable question to ask under the circumstances, as Cohn — faced with a wide choice of bids — was willing to explore the psychological advantages of knowing who his opposite number at the other table would be.

But Moss either didn't know, or pretended not to know, who was sitting South at the other table. He furthermore argued that Cohn was not entitled to this information, and that he was welcome to call the tournament director if he wanted to settle the issue.

But Cohn, unwilling to pursue the altercation further, said at this point: "In that case, I'll open the bidding with seven hearts."

Everybody passed and Moss led the ace of spades. Cohn ruffed, drew a round of trumps, cashed four club tricks, discarding a diamond from dummy, and so made the grand slam.

Said Cohn, after the hand was over, "The next time I ask a civil question, I'll expect a civil answer!"

Winners at the Washington C. H. Duplicate Bridge Club Tuesday night were Mrs. J. C. Wright and Mrs. Gay Jackson first with 89, Mrs. Eber Coil and J. C. Wright second with 81, and Mrs. Craig Vandemark and Dr. Norbert Nissimov third with 76. There were six full tables and par was 67.

Speaking of Your Health...

Cold Feet and Circulation

I'm 67 and my circulation is bad. My feet get cold even when the weather is not particularly cold. Are there any exercises to improve circulation?

Mr. T.F., Iowa

Dear Mr. F.:

My very first question is: DO YOU SMOKE? If you do, neither exercise nor medication will compensate for the spasms and the added narrowing of the blood vessels created by tobacco.

At your age, there is always some narrowing of the blood vessels which impairs normal circulation. Circulation can be measured to see if there is an adequate amount of blood going to the tips of the fingers and toes.

Special instruments similar to the blood pressure machine can measure the pulsations of the smaller arteries to the legs and feet.

Every avenue of study must be taken to see if there is an underlying reason for your poor circulation. In the absence of these, special exercises will increase circulation.

A person lying flat on his back elevates his legs for about 30 seconds, until the toes seem to become slightly pale, or blanched. Then he sits with his legs dangling over the side of the bed, moving his legs backwards and forwards for about two minutes, until the normal pinkish color appears.

Finally, he lies flat for about five minutes. This cycle is repeated in a few minutes. The exercise should be done about three times a day.

These exercises are excellent for increasing circulation to the extremities.

They do not, however, remove underlying causes.

Does vitamin A improve the eyesight?

Miss R.W., S.C.

Dear Miss W.:

If poor vision is identified with an established vitamin A deficiency then the use of this vitamin is essential.

In the absence of any vitamin A deficiency, a visit to the ophthalmologist will be a greater contribution to your vision.

Three youths hurt in rural accident

A 16-year-old Fayette County youth sustained an incapacitating injury in an accident at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

Ronald E. Moore, of U.S. 62, was taken by ambulance to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for back pain and is presently reported in fair condition.

Moore was one of two other persons injured in the accident.

Sheriff's deputies reported the mishap occurred when the auto Moore was driving failed to negotiate a right curve on Prairie Road, nine and four-tenths miles north of Washington C. H., and traveled left of center, colliding with an oncoming van driven by Timothy J. Keaton, 16, of New Holland. After the original impact, the van traveled on and struck a guard rail, while the auto stopped in the roadside ditch.

Keaton's passenger Jeffrey L. Ruth, 16, of New Holland was also injured, as was Moore's passenger, Richard L. Rich, 19, of 930 Dayton Ave. They were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment, Rich, for chest pain and Ruth, for a puncture wound of the forehead. Hospital officials had no report on Keaton. Rich and Ruth were releasted.

Both vehicles were severely damaged in the crash.

The Sheriff's Department reported seven additional weekend accidents, while city police reported two weekend mishaps, one of which involved injury.

Glenn sees unhappiness by voters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator-elect John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the election last week indicated voter disenchantment over events of the past year and "a lot of unhappiness with the way things are going, too."

But Glenn, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said he did not view the increase in Democratic control of Congress as a "mandate to take over the country."

"It was (voter) repudiation of some of the things they had seen going on last year," the former astronaut said.

Glenn, who was elected by a huge margin while Ohio's Democratic governor was being defeated, said the voter unhappiness with the way things are going was indicated by a lot of crossover voting and splitting tickets.

Glenn also said this country needs a broad-based foreign policy for international relations which he believes will center on food and fuel for the next few decades.

"Hopefully," he said, it should be with the support of and in cooperation with Congress instead of relying on the one-man diplomacy of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

City's only theater being reincarnated

BY MARK THELLMANN

There were no screams - not even a low moan. The Fayette Cinema on S. Fayette Street just rolled over and died peacefully last Tuesday night, without even a good-by; maybe because it wasn't really leaving, just dying in order to be reincarnated into a dance hall!

"Sounds Unlimited Discotheque," will be born in place of the Fayette Cinema at the end of the month. Through its doors will no longer be the familiar silver screen and rows of seats, but a flashing, pulsating dance floor; tables and chairs; and a bar which serves non-alcoholic beverages which taste like the alcohol-injected Cold Duck, champagne and beer (the non-alcohol counterparts are called Near-Beer, champagne-o and dead duck) and a snack bar serving pizza, subs, potato chips, pretzels, etc.

ON THE walls of the discotheque old-time movies will be shown, strobe lights will flash and kalidescopes of colorful goemetric patterns will spin and constantly change, while a multi-thousand dollar sound system plays all the hits and more non-stop.

In the back of the room, behind where the screen once hung, will be 35 games; everything from air-hockey to the legal form of pinball (it won't pay off in free games) and electronic games such as TV ping-pong.

The person behind this metamorphosis is none-other than the owner-operator of the theater, Harry Chakeres, who states ascetically, "It just wasn't right for me to pack up and leave Washington C.H. without giving the city some other form of entertainment its people would enjoy."

Chakeres explained why he put the lid on the last film canister late Tuesday night and sent it back to the distributor for the last time.

"The small theater owner can't make it now days with 60 cents or more out of every dollar taken in at the door going towards film rental. Any profit is quickly consumed by operating expenses and overhead; plus, television has hurt us so badly," Chakeres admitted. "If you were a distributor sending a movie out under the aforementioned contract arrangement would you send it to a large city like Columbus, where there are enough people to fill the theaters which are equipped to handle vast seating capacities, or would you send it to Washington C.H.?" Chakeres questioned and made his point.

"By the time I receive a big movie like the "Godfather," it

NOW? — Now what? You'll see at the end of November when the Fayette Cinema has been fully transformed into the "Sounds Unlimited Discotheque." Harry Chakeres (left) and partner Gregg McNany (right), are working feverishly to create what they term the "plushest place, in town to have a goodtime. The men said they are sinking $100,000 into the remodeling project which will include a multi-thousand dollar sound system and light show. Chakeres emphatically states, "We will serve no alcohol. I want my patrons to be able to have a good time without relying on drinking. There will be something for everyone: food and soft drinks, a game room, old-time movies, dancing and occasionally live bands."

Strike could cripple economy

Coal walkout set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide coal strike will begin just after midnight tonight and a top official of the United Mine Workers predicted today that the walkout will last about three weeks.

Most coal mines already were shut for the Veteran's Day holiday while union and industry negotiators continued efforts to resolve differences over a new contract.

As he arrived for today's bargaining session, UMW Vice President Mike Trbovich said failure to reach an agreement before tonight's official strike deadline will prolong the walkout at least another week beyond the union's earlier twoweek forecast.

"By not coming up with a contract last night or early this morning, I think we're in for a three-week strike," Trbovich told reporters. He said the major obstacle holding up a settlement is the economic package dealing with wages, pensions, sick pay and other benefits.

Only a few non-economic issues remained and the union official said these will be resolved.

Trbovich said if the negotiators get their "heads together I think we can get something by the end of the week."

Both Guy Farmer, the chief industry negotiator, and UMW President Arnold Miller said after Sunday night's session that they were getting closer to an agreement but indicated that it still was several days away.

Each day of delay will further prolong the strike, now expected to last at least two weeks. That's the estimated time required for miners to vote on any tentative pact.

The government says a walkout of any longer duration will begin to force production cutbacks in other industries and result in layoffs of thousands of workers.

A strike is unavoidable because of the UMW's "no contract, no work" tradition, and because ratification of any settlement would require about 10 days. Thus, the length of the walkout depends on the negotiators' ability to hammer out a new agreement that will win rank-and-file approval. The current contract expires at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday.

After furious last minute stockpiling Saturday, most coal mines were idle Sunday and are expected to remain so until the union's 120,000 members approve a new contract. Were the mines to work today — Veteran's Day — the companies would have to pay triple wages under holiday provisions of the current pact.

The negotiators met until 11 p.m. Sunday before recessing for the night, the latest they have worked in nearly a week.

As he emerged from the talks, Farmer said he thought it would be midweek before a settlement was worked out. Earlier, he had been hopeful of an agreement over this past weekend.

Ohio Assembly sets housing law action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee meets today to examine a House-passed bill establishing a housing agency with authority to issue bonds and make housing loans.

Leaders have called for a full-blown working session of the General Assembly Tuesday with the expectation of completing action on the measure in one day.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he will seek to put an emergency clause on the bill so that it might bring relief sooner to the state's ravaged housing industry.

Non-emergency measures don't go into effect for 90 days.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and a special committee of senators and representatives recommended that the legislature be called out of recess to act on the bill.

The lawmakers quit last summer, but have been meeting monthly in skeleton sessions to keep the legislature technically alive until the end of the year.

The new assembly elected Nov. 5 convenes Jan. 6.

Lancione and Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, said they want to try to limit the Tuesday session to the housing bill.

They were believed to feel now is not the time, with the legislature in lame duck status along with Gilligan, to open the door to consideration of other legislative and state problems.

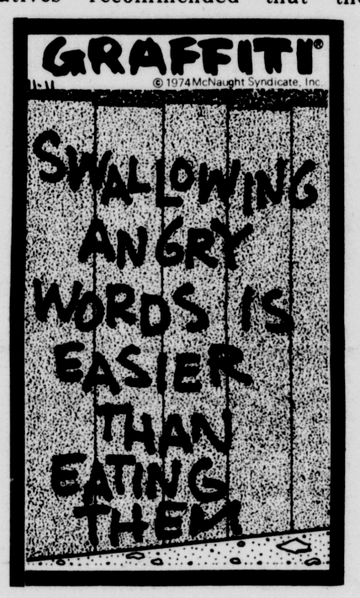
The session was delayed until after the election because Gray reportedly felt members might come into town more interested in using it for a campaign forum than for legislating.

Rep. Edward Feighan, D-8 Cleveland, is chief sponsor of the housing bill which authorizes the Housing Development Board to issue bonds for money to make loans—to builders and individuals as well—to make housing repairs and finance new construction.

Through the agency, the bonds could be repaid at about seven per cent or less as loans were repaid at eight or nine per cent, adding on only the amount required to pay administrative costs. Most of the state's lending institutions currently are charging about 11 or 12 per cent for housing loans.

The Legislative Service Commission committee that recommended action on the bill now was told that Massachusetts adopted a similar program and made about $170 million available for loans in that state and a rate of 8¾ per cent.

Some Ohio lawmakers have mentioned the possibility of bonds totaling about $150 million to get the program under way in this state.



Ford reported encouraged by Kissinger Mideast trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, preparing for his first official journey overseas, says Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned from his 17-country trip with "very encouraging" news.

Ford and Kissinger discussed the secretary's 18-day trip for three hours Sunday at Camp David, Md. They plan to confer about two hours each day this week in preparation for Ford's Far East visit.

The President and Kissinger depart for the Far East next Sunday. Ford said he was "looking forward to a constructive trip to Japan, South Korea and to the Soviet Union."

Standing on the White House lawn with Kissinger after flying back from Camp David, Ford said the secretary of state brought back from the Middle East "some encouraging news" and that Kissinger's meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev "was very helpful."

Kissinger returned to Washington Saturday expressing confidence that his trip had helped chances for peace in the Middle East and agreement with the Soviet Union to limit nuclear arms.

Ford also told newsmen that Kissinger's talks in India, Bangladesh and Pakistan had been "very helpful in redirecting our policy in that vitally important area of the world."

Turning to Kissinger, Ford said he wanted to "personally thank you, very much," and noted "the superhuman effort the secretary has made."

Kissinger spent the first four days of his trip in Moscow and then made a swing through Italy, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria, Israel, Iran and Syria.

Coverup jury to hear damaging tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today denied a request for a separate trial and for a mistrial from two of the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica acted just before Watergate prosecutors were scheduled to begin playing a series of 26 white House tapes they say is the most important part of their case.

Among them is the last tape made public by Richard M. Nixon before he resigned the presidency.

Shortly before rejecting a mistrial motion from defendant John N. Mitchell and a severance motion from defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson, Sirica agreed to another defense request that a word be struck from the June 23, 1972, tape to be heard by the jury today.

Transcripts prepared by the special prosecutor's office showed defendant H. R. Haldeman saying, "Gemstone," in reference to the code name for the plan to bug the Democrats in 1972.

In place of Gemstone and sentences bracketing it, Sirica ordered the word "unintelligible" typed in. The tape where others who have heard Gemstone remains intact.

Lawyers for Parkinson and Mitchell had made their request to Sirica based upon the disclosure last week of a memo written by Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt.

The memo had been kept from the prosecutors for more than a year by Hunt's first lawyer, William O. Bittman.

Defense lawyers had argued that the sudden appearance of the memo unfairly forced them to change their strategies in midstream.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court declined to hear arguments on whether the indictments of the six Watergate cover-up defendants should be invalidated.

The ruling lets stand a Court of Appeals decision which rejected a motion by H. R. Haldeman to strike down the indictments. Haldeman contended the grand jury which returned the indictments was not legally in existence since Congress extended its life beyond the normal 18 months.

The 26 tapes total 35 listening hours and are designed to enlighten the jury about key events in the 10 months after the June, 1972, break-in. Also to be introduced into evidence was a diary of Nixon's appointments for June 23, showing that he and Haldeman met for

Several races still in doubt days after general election

By The Associated Press

Six days after the elections, two races for senator, one for governor and three for the House of Representatives are still undecided and will remain so until recounts are completed.

Here is a state-by-state rundown:

NORTH DAKOTA: Republican Sen. Milton R. Young holds a 240-vote lead over former Gov. William L. Guy, a Democrat, in the race for Young's Senate seat. Five of the 53 county canvassing boards have yet to turn in official tabulations, but are expected to do so by Tuesday. Young, 76, said Sunday: "The uncertainty of it all is the worst part."

NEW HAMPSHIRE: In the Senate race, Republican Rep. Louis C. Wyman held a 335-vote lead out of 220,000 cast over Democrat John A. Durkin, a former State Insurance Commissioner. They face a recount.

ALASKA: Jay Hammond, a Republican, had a 661-vote margin over Democratic Gov. William A. Egan, whom he is seeking to unseat, as questioned ballots in the Anchorage area were counted. Still unreported were a few absentee ballots and the returns from four villages.

LOUISIANA: Officials have refused to certify the race in the 6th Congressional District and say they will refuse to do so until there is a court ruling on a count from a voting machine that may have malfunctioned. If the machine's tally is allowed, Republican W. Henson Moore would defeat Democrat Jeff LaCaze by five votes. Without the machine's vote, LaCaze would win by 195 votes.

NEBRASKA: Virginia Smith, a Republican, leads by 24 votes over Democrat Wayne Ziebarth in the state's 3rd Congressional District. However, votes from heavily populated Lincoln and Hall counties remain to be tabulated. Neither is the incumbent.

MAINE: David Emery, a Republican, leads by less than 600 votes over four-term Democratic Rep. Peter N. Kyros in the state's 1st District. Lawyers for both men have agreed to a recount which will begin today and is expected to take a week to eight days.

Kremlin increases Jewish harassment

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin has increased its harassment of Jewish dissidents since the announcement in Washington of an agreement to let more Jews emigrate from the Soviet Union, leading Jewish activists have told Sen. James L. Buckley.

The conservative New York Republican met for an hour and a half Sunday night at the home of scientist Alexander Lerner with 16 of Moscow's most active Jewish leaders, most of whom have been denied permission to leave the country.

They told Buckley that all the telephone lines over which the dissidents communicated with the West have been cut since Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D.-Wash., announced on Oct.18 that the Soviet government was liberalizing its Jewish immigration policy to obtain trade concessions from the United States Congress.

The Jews told Buckley that for the past three years some of their phones were shut off periodically, but several were usually left open. Now all of them have been shut off, they said.

One of the group, Alexander Luntz, said reports from Minsk, the capital of Byelorussia, indicate that not only those Jews who apply to emigrate but those who receive invitations from Israel are being subjected to searches and confiscations.

Luntz said that after a recent trip to the Caucasian republic of Azerbaijan, police detained him and confiscated documents and film on the Jews of that region.

"We have seen that not the volume but the kinds of persecution have enlarged, and most of it is taking place where people are not able to inform either you or me," Luntz told the senator.

The Jewish leaders put much emphasis on their need to maintain phone and mail communications with the West. They said constant contact would provide one of the best means of ensuring that Soviet authorities adhere to the emigration agreement.

Buckley, a leader in the congressional drive to force the Kremlin to liberalize its emigration policies, arrived in Moscow Saturday afternoon and vigorously pursued the dissident community for information. He has been ignored by the Soviet government, and there has been no mention of his visit in the press.

President facing political pressures

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford faces increased pressures from both left and right, from Democrats and Republicans, as a result of last week's off-year elections.

And the cross-currents already developing could complicate his 1976 election plans, should he carry out his announced intention of seeking a full presidential term.

On one hand, Democrats contend that their sweeping electoral pickups were the result of voter demand for more forceful leadership in government, particularly in dealing with the nation's troubled economy.

They seem certain to push that view when the 94th Congress convenes in January, and there are indications the liberal wing of Ford's own party will lend some support.

On the other hand, Republican conservatives led by retiring California Gov. Ronald Reagan were already restive because of Ford's selection of Nelson A. Rockefeller for vice president and his proposal for conditional amnesty to Vietnam-era military dissenters.

Although the biggest losers in the election were hard-line GOP conservatives, Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., insisted Friday "there is no evidence that conservative positions were in any way questioned by the voters."

For the moment, Ford is standing pat. Top officials say they don't see any plan to change the administration's approach to the economic situation.

Over the longer run, that stance could bring trouble in Congress and with the public. If Congress develops any momentum for economic initiative at all, Ford could wind up in the position of seeming to block it, unless he comes up with proposals beyond those offered to date.

But if Ford begins to act by adopting such proposals as wage-price guidelines to curb inflation or stepped up federal spending to meet recession, he faces problems with the Republican conservatives.

Whatever their fate last Tuesday, Republican conservatives still command considerable strength within the GOP as a result of the gradual shift of Republican power toward the South and the West.

Reagan himself plans to embark on a nationwide speaking tour next year. He is hinting a 1976 presidential bid, regardless of whether Ford runs.

There are some doubts that Ford will run if economic conditions are poor.

Despite White House pronouncements that his candidacy is "probable", Mrs. Ford's recent breast cancer operation could give the President a perfect "out" if he doesn't want to run.

Reagan then might be nominated at a conservative-dominated GOP convention, according to that possible scenario.

Brown sets loan case court appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Atty. Gen. William J. Brown says he is confident the 10th District Court of Appeals will overturn a lower court ruling that Ohio cannot recover $14 million in defaulted loans from two former state officials or their bonding companies.

Judge Jack Young ruled last week that neither former Treasurer John D. Herbert nor his investment officer, Robert Gardner, was guilty of negligence in making the loans.

Young, who came out of retirement on assignment to hear a suit filed by Brown, also criticized the attorney general for failing to take quick action to recover the losses.

The loans in question were two-year loans made to the Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America for $4 million and King Resources, Inc., for $8 million. Both firms later went broke.

Young said Brown should have sued both firms and his failure to do so within 20 months was "indefensible." He also criticized Board of Deposits action in 1970 that prohibited Herbert from disposing of any investments at a loss.

"We feel Judge Young was wrong in his reasoning, that he felt 20 months was too long since the loans were made for the suit to be filed. . . ," Brown said.

The judge found that the "dilatory action or inaction by the attorney general's office negated any offense which the treasurer may have committed, as did the order of the Board of Deposits."

The June 23 tape quotes Nixon as approving a plan to thwart the FBI investigation of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters. Most of the other tapes involve conversations in April 1973 right before two of Nixon's top assistants, Haldeman and defendant John D. Ehrlichman, resigned and a third, John W. Dean III, was fired.

Nixon reportedly kept the existence of the June 23 tape a secret even from his own lawyer, James D. St. Clair, until last Aug. 5, just a few days before he became the first president to resign.

The published transcript of the June 23 tape quotes Haldeman: "Now on the investigation, you know, the Democratic break-in thing, we're back in the problem area because the FBI is not under control ... their investigation is now leading into some productive areas."

Haldeman notes a suggestion from former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, another defendant, that "the way to handle this now is for us to have (Deputy CIA Director Vernon A.) Walters call (then Acting FBI Director) Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of this — this is ah, business here we don't want you to go any further on it.'"

Nixon responds to his one-time chief of staff by saying, "They (the CIA) should call the FBI in and (unintelligible) don't go any further into this case, period," according to the White House transcript.

To supplement the tapes, Walters was scheduled to testify, as he has in other forums, that he then complied with the White House request and asked Gray to keep the FBI away from investigating checks traced to one of the original burglars. The checks involved money that had been passed through a bank in Mexico to conceal the identities of Nixon campaign contributors.

Gray, now in a Connecticut law firm, was also to be called to the witness stand.

The June 23 transcript shows that Nixon and Haldeman also talked about Mitchell and the five 1972 Nixon re-election campaign checks traced to the original Watergate burglars.

Coal strike

railroads and steel companies — are expected to feel the initial effect of the strike.

The Norfolk & Western Railway, the nation's second largest coal hauler, has already announced plans for layoffs once present coal stockpiles at mines have been shipped. And, the Penn Central, the largest rail carrier, says it stands to lose $5 million a week during the strike.

Interior Department officials say a strike of only two weeks would cut steel production by 25 per cent, with a cutback of up to 70 per cent forecast if the walkout continued into December.

A drop in steel production would ripple through the auto, appliance and construction industries. Electric power companies have coal reserves of several weeks but a long strike would eventually begin to have serious consequences.

The government estimates that 400,000 workers will lose their jobs after four weeks of a coal strike and 1.7 million after eight weeks.

Cloudy skies will keep temperatures from rising above the upper 50s or 60s today. Lows tonight will be mostly in the 30s as the rain tapers off from the west.

Stock list marks time

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off .94 at 666.22, and losers held a very slight edge over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said uncertainty over how long the nationwide coal strike might last contributed to a general air of caution on Wall Street.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index eased .04 to 69.76.

Gold stocks fell back in profit-taking.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index slipped .05 to 39.58.

Michigan Sugar was the Amex's most-active issue, up 1⅜ at 16¾.

Israelis heighten austerity

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Slum dwellers rioted in protest against the government's new austerity program, but Premier Yitzhak Rabin warned that more severe measures will come soon.

The premier said in a televised speech Sunday that since the war last year, "arms have poured into the Arab countries and we have had to confront this increased strength.

"This will not be the last step," he declared. "We have to face all the struggles — military, political, economic and social. I do not claim for a minute that we have solved these problems."

To halt the drain on Israel's foreign currency reserves, the government early Sunday devalued the pound 43 per cent; increased the prices of food, gasoline and electricity; froze wages; put a six-month ban on imports of cars, shoes, television sets, tape recorders, beer and cement; levied new taxes on overseas travel, banks, insurance companies and capital gains.

The price of milk jumped from 15 to 25 cents a quart. Sugar tripled, from 16 to 48 cents a pound. Gasoline increased from $1.53 to $1.75 a gallon.

The pound dropped from 4.20 to 6.00 to the dollar.

Treasury officials said the program would add about 17 per cent to the cost of living, which already has risen 34 per cent this year.

Many people expected something of the sort and for the past week have been stocking up at supermarkets and gas stations. But in Tel Aviv's Haktiva slum area hundreds of rioters smashed windows Sunday, looted stores, wrecked 10 buses, stoned police and chanted slogans against the austerity program.

Riffe picks up Cuyahoga backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, claimed today to have picked up the support of the entire Democratic House delegation from Cuyahoga County in his attempt to become speaker.

Riffe, a 49-year-old insurance man starting his 9th term in the House, said he met with members of the state's largest delegation and received support from all seven incumbents and five newcomers elected in last Tuesday's election.

"I am hopeful my performance as speaker will justify their confidence in me," Riffe said.

He plans to run for speaker at a party caucus later this year against Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, a 28-year veteran who has predicted he will stave off the challenge and retain the powerful post.

Cuban embargo to be lifted

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The secretary-general of the Organization of American States says he is certain the OAS will vote to lift its 10-year-old diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba.

"We will have the 14 votes," said Galo Plaza. "All we need now is to agree on the precise wording of the resolution."

Voting could begin tonight at the OAS foreign ministers' meeting that began Friday. Twenty-one nations are entitled to vote, and a two-thirds majority is required for action.

A draft resolution presented by Venezuela, Colombia and Costa Rica calls for the lifting of the sanctions and includes a key clause "reaffirming the principle of nonintervention into the affairs of other states."

But some diplomats expressed doubt that agreement on the wording of the resolution would be reached.

Chile, Uruguay and Paraguay have said they will vote against ending sanctions. Nicaragua has said it is abstaining, and diplomatic sources said Haiti, which first was in favor of lifting the ban, now may abstain.

The United States, Brazil, Bolivia and Guatemala are still uncommitted. But Brazil and Bolivia have indicated they are willing to go along with the resolution once it gets two-thirds support.

State board eyes routine schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A routine agenda faced the state Board of Education today following completion of two days of preliminary hearings on proposed new teacher education standards.

Business at the board's regular monthly meeting included allocation of $490,000 to Columbus city schools for vocational construction, approval of $100,000 to five universities for preparing teachers of handicapped youth, and awarding $120,085 to 24 school districts for providing work-study opportunities to disadvantaged youth.

Hearings on teacher education reform were held Sunday and before today's meeting by a board committee. The chairperson, Martha W. Wise of Elyria, said the proposed standards were drawn up by a 30-member advisory committee.

The Board of Education will hold a public hearing on the new requirements Nov. 9 before considering them for adoption.

Major requirements in the proposals would provide prospective teachers with more and earlier in-school experiences, and clinical preparation in the diagnosis of learning difficulties and in the prescription of appropriate instructional strategies.

Colleges and universities would be required to reorganize teacher education courses, prepare all teachers for the teaching of reading, and provide lower faculty-student ratios to assure greater college supervision and evaluation of school-based work.

Tractor theft brings arrest

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP) — The arrest Sunday of an Ohio man hauling a $5,000 farm tractor and disc harrow left police hopeful they may have broken a tractor theft ring that has been operating in the South.

Police Chief Harold Kennedy said a patrolman's routine check at 2 a.m. resulted in the discovery of the farm equipment in the back of a truck. James T. Inman, 29, of Bethel was arrested for having no operator's license.

The tractor belonged to M. J. Eubanks of Albany, Ga., police said. Inman was to face a hearing today.

Start transit walkout

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bus service connecting Northern Kentucky with Cincinnati was suspended Sunday after members of the Amalgamated Transit Union walked off their jobs.

The walkout involved drivers and maintenance employes.

The local union rejected a new contract late Saturday with the Transit Authority of Northern Kentucky (TANK).

Both the union and transit company called action a wildcat strike.

The union's old, two-year contract expired at midnight Saturday. Union members are reported seeking a pay hike of about 60 cents per hour which would lift their wages to $5.01 an hour and equal the salary received by Queen City Metro drivers in Cincinnati.

George Grady, chairman of TANK, said he was advised that no strike vote was taken by the union's 140 members "and no strike has been authorized by the international union."

Thank You -

I want to thank the many people who supported and helped me in the recent election.

Being your Commissioner has been most gratifying. I want the best that is possible for all of Fayette County.

I will continue to be devoted to this task the next four years.

Thank you for your vote and continued confidence.

'49ers club' eyes Demo leadership

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— There's a "49ers Club" in the newly elected legislature that will seek to unseat the present Democratic leadership.

Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, also 49, will try to become speaker in a caucus, probably next month, against present Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire. Riffe is now speaker pro tem, the No. 2 job.

The two power struggles had taken shape earlier, but last Tuesday's election assuring Democrats of control of both houses gave it more significance. They will control the next Senate 21-12 and have an increased edge of 59-40 in the House compared to 58-41 presently.

The speaker's post is generally regarded as second in power only to that of the governor, which Riffe may seek if he is successful in his bid to defeat Lancione, his former roommate and friend of many years. The Scioto County insuranceman has been mentioned as a possible gubernatorial prospect in 1978.

As majority leader in the Senate, Ocasek also would have power and prestige and the kind of exposure that could someday mean higher office for him, although he claims no such ambitions.

Ocasek, noting Riffe is his same age, said "we're the 49ers . . . it will be our job to get Democratic programs through the legislature."

Calabrese and Lancione, reportedly both 67 although neither likes to tell his age, are not taking their challenges but say they are confident of retaining their posts. "I'm going to be the Democratic leader," said Calabrese, who recovered recently from surgery and a subsequent extended illness.

Lancione claims to have sufficient votes in the House caucus to ward off Riffe's challenge despite a rebellion on behalf of the speaker pro tem by two Toledo Democrats.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, and Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, are boosting Riffe with claims he already works long hours and weekends and does most of the speaker's duties anyway.

If the revolt comes off successfully, Quilter, now majority floor leader, reportedly would move into Riffe's present job. Wilkowski has been chairman of the House Judiciary Committee but quit that post when Lancione publicly scorned the rebellion.

Weather draws 400 exhibitors at weekend show

There was an excellent turnout for the Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association show this weekend. Warm, sunny weather induced some 200 exhibitors to set up displays outdoors in addition to a packed house inside.

The large turnout caught show officials unaware, and there were not enough exhibitors tickets available for all who set up. Tickets from past shows had to be used for some of the nearly 400 exhibitors.

All of the buildings with heating facilities were filed to capacity, and a tent with 21 tables was set up outside. Parking on the Fayette County Fairgrounds was packed, and many cars were parked along nearby streets.

No competition for guns or relics will be held during the winter shows. The competitive event will resume in April.

The December show will be held the first weekend, Dec. 7 and 8.

Malinta man drowns

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP)— Dragging operations in the Maumee River Sunday failed to recover the body of Steve Spangler, 23, of Malinta, and the Henry County sheriff's office said the effort would be resumed today.

The state of Ohio recently opened a foreign trade development office in Dusseldorf, West Germany, to help Ohio companies increase their share of the multi-billion dollar exporting market, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Unanswered questions

Reaction to President Ford's appearance before a congressional panel to explain the Nixon pardon makes it evident that the outcome has left many people dissatisfied. We share this view. Too many significant questions are still unanswered. The House Judiciary subcommittee and perhaps its parent committee ought to look more deeply into this important matter.

President Ford is to be applauded - has been lavishly applauded by the subcommittee and others - for going to Congress and opening himself to inquiry on a touch subject. It is gratifying to have his categorical assurance that "there was no deal" between him and the disgraced former president.

But Mr. Ford's rather wistful hope that his account of the pardon and what led him to grant it when he did has "cleared the air" of suspicion and rumor has not been realized. His appearance at the hearing will not end the people's concern about Watergate and turn their thoughts to other problems, any more than the pardon itself did. In both cases, his expectations were wrong.

That is true in the present instance, it must be said in fairness, not only because the presidential response was inadequate but because subcommittee procedures were ineffective. For all Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan's wrist slap to the effect that the five-minute rule was standard practice, Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman was right: restricting each subcommittee member to five minutes did not allow enough time to dig into the important questions involved.

The subcommittee also fell short of meeting its responsibility on other counts. It did not precede the presidential appearance with the questioning of other witnesses which the situation demands. It did not call for some of the documents which might shed light on the circumstances of the pardon.

These shortcomings can still be remedied. The President's statement and response to the few substantive questions put to him has been helpful, but it is not enough. The Nixon pardon must be more fully explored if the rumors and suspicions to which Mr. Ford alluded are to be laid to rest.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Election changes little

WASHINGTON — That the outcome of the election will change anything, other than the political landscape looking to 1976, is an illusion that will not long survive the counting of the votes.

Issues were oversimplified or ignored in a campaign marked by yawning apathy and so when the Congress returns it is highly unlikely that any serious action will be taken on the growing threat to America's stability and well being.

The unbridled use of gasoline in the private motor car is priving with time running out that President Ford's voluntarism is simply not working. And that is directly related to the possibility — indeed the probability — of another Middle East war with another oil embargo.

The first move by a returning Congress should be to resolve the mess over foreign aid. That would include the $250 million for Egypt which Secretary of State Henry Kissinger intimated during his earlier shuttle diplomacy would be forthcoming. It would go to rebuild the ruins along the Suez Canal. Those ruins are untouched as Egypt's President Anwar Sadat is reported to anticipate another war making reconstruction futile.

Such a move would support Kissinger in his present effort to salvage the basis for negotiation that he achieved during his marathon diplomacy earlier this year. He goes back to the Middle East this time empty-handed.

Next in the order of priority should be stern measures to conserve gasoline. The reduction of a million barrels of oil a day will never be achieved by voluntarism. Gasoline rationing or an across-the-board cut in petroleum imports is essential even without the drastic consequences of a new embargo resulting from still another war.

Anyone who thinks this will happen is living in a dream world. It is the same old Congress with the same old men in control of the key committees and the key decisions under the committee system. These are not bad men. In fact, they are conscientious and for the most part well meaning. It just happens that they are prisoners of a past that takes no account of a world in the throes of revolutionary change.

The new Congress with even more top-heavy Democratic majorities that meets in January will be very much like the expiring 93rd. Although there may be exceptions, the same leaders and the same committee chairmen will be re-elected to their present posts.

Speaker Carl Albert first came to the House 26 years ago. He was elected majority leader in the 87th Congress and Speaker in the 92nd. A sad commentary on the sticky tangle between the executive and the legislative branches is that the vote on confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller to be Vice President is unlikely to come until some time in 1975. During this interval, the amiable Speaker would become President if Gerald Ford should not complete his term.

Mike Mansfield of Montana has been majority leader of the Senate since 1961. He is a decent human being who finds it difficult if not impossible to produce any semblance of unity with the satraps ruling over their own committee principalities.

One of the most notorious of these satraps is Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, elected to the Senate in 1950 and, thanks to seniority, made chairman of the finance committee in 1966. He bottled up the trade reform act which may now, after months and months of delay, reach the Senate floor for an uncertain fate.

One change has occurred. Sen. J. William Fulbright, defeated for re-election in the Democratic primary in Arkansas, was for 15 years chairman of the foreign relations committee. In that post, he performed invaluable service in subjecting foreign policy to searching analysis and criticism. Fulbright will be replaced, thanks to the seniority escalator, by Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama who is content to take a somnolent view of whatever comes along from the executive.

There may have been a time when this nation could affort two years of jockeying for position looking to a presidential election two years hence. That time has long since passed.

As we drift on a do-nothing course, the sound of the falls, the frightening events just ahead, grows louder and louder.

Fire training readied

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's new $3 million firemen's training academy, nearly two years from a formal opening, isn't being set up to do away with local training programs, Ohio's fire marshal says.

"There has been a lot of confusion and misunderstanding about the academy," said state Fire Marshal David Lucht.

"We're not out to abolish local training programs. We want to expand and enhance them."

First priority, he said, will be to determine what Ohio needs in fire training and to establish such programs.

Lucht said the five-building academy in suburban Reynoldsburg will be open on a tuition basis to all professional and volunteer firemen, and also will train in "the advanced techniques of fire-fighting, management and administration, arson investigation and other areas where we believe a lot is lacking."

Lucht said "the main thrust of the academy will be to determine the total needs of the state and train and educate fire fighters, a real effort to reduce the loss of life and property from fire."

Ohio has an estimated 44,000 firemen, 75 per cent of them unpaid volunteers who now get a basic 36-hour training course. Professional firemen are required under present law to receive a minimum of 160 hours.

Most of the current training is done locally. The training is designed to enable recruits to meet standards set by the state Department of Education, Lucht said.

Local governments are under pressure to provide training by the Insurance Services Office of Ohio, an organization of private insurance companies which sets rates for insurance around the state. The office sets lower insurance rates when training is provided.

The state regulates the office.

Ground-breaking for the academy, which is financed by state and federal revenue sharing money 50-50, almost coincided with the enactment by Congress of a bill establishing a U.S. Fire Prevention and Control Administration in the Department of Commerce.

"It went almost unnoticed," said Lucht. "It's about the same thing we want to do, only on a national basis. It represents a real $57 million effort, the greatest ever made to promote fire safety."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her husband claims to be 18 and single

DEAR ABBY: First let me tell you that my husband is 38 and I am 36. We have been married for six years, after dating for eleven years. We wanted to be sure we were ready for marriage.

I was not snooping, because I am not that type, but before the Goodwill people took away an old trunk which had been stored in our attic for a long time, I looked through it, and came across about 200 letters, addressed to my husband in care of a post office box in a nearby town. (He has to go through that little town on his way to work.)

My curiousity got the best of me because these letters were in three different handwritings, all addressed to him in care of the same box number. Some were dated as far back as two years ago!

It seems he is corresponding with three young girls (13 and 14-year-olds) through some pen pal club. I don't know what he has written to them, but they think he is a single 18-year-old boy, interested in a romantic relationship.

He is college-educated and I only graduated from high school. He is a religious man, Abby, and respected in his community. Why would he do something like this? Is he sick? What should I do about it?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband could be sick. Tell him exactly how you came upon the letters and insist that he see his doctor. His behavior is symptomatic of a serious physical (and-or mental) illness which, if treated in time, can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42 year-old-man who is normal in every respect, but I am 4 ft. 11 and weigh 115. I am single and very lonely.

I heard that there was a national convention of The Little People of America in Ashville, N.C. last July. I would have gone, but it was over by the time I learned about it.

If you use this in the paper, please omit my name and town because some normal-sized people tend to make fun of us little people although they mean no harm.

If you have any information about this club for little people, I would certainly appreciate it.

LITTLE GUY

DEAR LITTLE: I'll try. Anyone out there want to do a lot of little people a big favor? Write to Abby with the information and I'll print it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to the same man for 30 years. When he picked a wife, he wanted a church-going girl who didn't drink, smoke or dance. One who was quiet, modest and not sexy.

I was that girl. I gave him two children (now 28 and 26, both married). Now my husband has decided that he no longer loves me. Instead he wants a younger woman who is sexy, can dance and "turn him on." He doesn't care if she smokes or drinks either.

Behind my back he had divorce papers served on me. We are both 52. He never let me work because he wanted me to stay home and be a full-time wife and mother, so I have no skills. I don't want a divorce, and am contesting it. I left my home and am living with my daughter. I attend church regularly, and I still love him regardless.

The lawyers say we could live separately and come and go as we please, but that's against my way of life. I don't believe in divorce, so what do you advise?

MARRIED FOR LIFE

DEAR MARRIED: You may prevent your husband from getting a divorce, but you can't force him to live with you or "love" you. Maybe if you hang on long enough, he'll change his mind and return to you, but you have no guarantees.

In the meantime, instead of stubbornly clinging to a onesided marriage, why not find something constructive to do with your time? Like volunteer work? At 52, you are still young enough. Life is short, make it sweet.

'Spring flowering bulbs' Garden Club program topic

The Washington Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Orville Hurtt with 11 members present. Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, president, opened the session and roll call was answered by each naming something she saw from her window.

Mrs. Donald Meredith and Mrs. Wilson reported on the recent Region 16 meeting held at the Mount Sterling Methodist Church.

Mrs. Wilson will be hostess for the carry-in Christmas dinner. Names were drawn for a $2.00 gift exchange, and officers of the club will be the hostesses. Each member is to bring a door swag or centerpiece for the exhibit. The date will be announced later.

Mrs. Edwin Hidy gave the program on "Spring Flowering Bulbs." She read a poem and said that no type of garden flower gives so much for so little care and effort as the group of plants known to the amateur as bulbs.

One may start the succession of year-around blooms with the snow-drop and similar small plants, daffodils, tulips, iris, gladiolia, lilies, tuberous begonias, cannas and dahlias.

A true bud is really a bud containing in it the flowers in miniature. It needs only warmth, moisture and the means of absorbing the moisture (roots) to grow and flower. It is composed of layers of overlapping scales and increases chiefly by division. The scales divide from the parent plant and these form new bulbs, actually parts from the old plant. Among these is the lily.

The corm, such as gladioli, is solid flesh. It blooms for a single season, and an entirely new corm grows about it to take its place. In addition to this it forms bulblets around its base which are also new growths.

Mrs. Eugene Cook won a contest and also the evening award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hurtt and Mrs. Herbert Dawes. A house plant exchange was enjoyed by all.

Thanksgiving theme

Mrs. Keith Zimmerman was hostess for the November meeting of the Bookwalter Ladies Aid. Mrs. Doris Garringer, president, opened the meeting with a poem by Frank Grubbs entitled "Autumn Time."

Mrs. Esther Stockwell gave devotions by reading Psalm 100 with readings from Daily Blessings.

Mrs. Marilyn Marks and Mrs. Leona Edwards made reports and all answered roll call by naming a favorite tree. A program and flower committee and news reporter were reported, and the Christmas party will be Dec. 12 with carry-in noon luncheon.

"First Harvest" was read by Mrs. Esther Stockwell; Mrs. Jean Warner read "Our American Heritage" and Mrs. Louise Vannorsdall read "Over the River and Through the Woods," all pertaining to Thanksgiving. For the closing, Mrs. Garringer read "Make Every Day Thanksgiving Day."

Mrs. Marks assisted in the hospitalities.

Coal expansion hit by uncertainty

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The country has enough coal to satisfy any demands at 1972 prices, but uncertainties are preventing expansion of production and consumption, a federal Energy Administration (FEA) official said Sunday.

Mark Silverman, Region 4 deputy administrator, told a legislative interim committee on coal mining that the Project Independence report to be released Tuesday places coal as the "primary candidate for occupying the crucial role" in the program and suggests "West Virginia should act as a prime catalyst."

The report for Project Independence, which aims to decrease the country's dependence on imported energy sources, is due on the first day of a now-inevitable United Mine Workers strike.

Silverman said the FEA would have only the limited role in a strike of allocating substitute fuels to industries and utilities capable of switching.

But he said that sufficient substitute fuel is not available even to replace shortages of natural gas that are expected this winter.

"We're going to be in for some very severe problems this winter, even without a coal strike," he said.

Coal's central role in any Ameiican energy program is due to its abundance, he said; the nation has 350 years of coal that is minable with present technology.

Today supply cannot equal demand because of recent strike-anticipatory stockpiling and because of the unexpected increase in demand last winter, he said.

"The present shortage could clear up in three to five years," he said, except for the uncertainties of capital shortages and air pollution standards, which are stalling increased production and consumption.

Big steel fears UMW walkout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry, bolstered by a no-strike agreement with steelworkers and headed toward record profits through the first three quarters of 1974, faces a major threat from the impending coal strike.

The consensus of industry analysts was that if the strike lasts more than two weeks, layoffs of thousands of steelworkers will begin and production will be curtailed significantly.

Coal company and union representatives have been meeting in Washington and reported progress Sunday night toward an agreement. But a settlement was not likely until midweek, after the start of a nationwide strike. The miners' contract expires at midnight tonight.

Even if a tentative agreement is reached, rank-and-file members must approve it before the strike ends under the union's no contract-no work tradition. Ratification is expected to take eight to 10 days.

The coal strike would be especially costly to the steelmakers if it causes shutdowns.

During shutdowns, the companies face rapidly rising costs for taxes, bonded indebtedness and machinery depreciation. And the cost of closing down before and restarting after a strike can be staggering.

That's why the no-strike agreement signed last spring with the million-member United Steelworkers Union was especially significant.

While most companies were reluctant to discuss their coal reserves for competitive reasons, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated the industrywide coal stockpile at about 30 days' supply with half the steelmakers with less than 20 days' supply on hand.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. says it will operate normally for the first week and reassess the situation after that.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, plans to slow production by 25 per cent immediately and 50 per cent if the strike goes past two weeks.

The impact of the strike will be minimized in the steel industry if the mills can keep operating and avoid the costly shutdown and eventual restarts.

A cutback by steelmakers eventually would have a crippling effect on related industries, such as automobiles.

But power companies would be able to stretch their energy supplies somewhat by not having to serve the steel companies.

Abortions raising questions

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The growing number of abortions since the 1973 Supreme Court decision and new surgical techniques have raised a question in some legal minds: When does abortion become murder?

A number of prosecutors watched Pittsburgh last week for the outcome of a coroner's inquest into allegations that an internationally known obstetrician aborted a living child in the eighth month of pregnancy and then allowed it to die.

Dr. Leonard Laufe, head of obstetrics and gynecology at Western Pennsylvania Hospital, was exonerated of any criminal responsibility in the case on Thursday when the coroner's jury ruled that the child was stillborn.

"With the new surgical techniques employed in abortions in the third trimester, we are now in an area where you can have an abortion with a live fetus," said John Tighe, first assistant in the Allegheny County district attorney's office.

"If the child is born alive, no matter how slender the life, it is entitled to protection," he added.

Prosecutors in Baltimore and Boston were in touch with the Pittsburgh prosecutors for guidance in handling similiar cases in their cities, Tighe said.

Central U.S. reports rain

An inch of rain drenched Lafayette, La., within six hours Sunday night and Green Bay, Wis., sloshed in ¾ of an inch.

In Arkansas, a bridge in Little Rock and a highway near Fort Smith were closed because of flooding.

The northwestern coastal states and plains and the northern Rockies also had cloudy skies. A few light rain and snow showers hit Montana, Wyoming and Colorado.

MT senior to participate in history contest finals

A Miami Trace High School student is among some 100 Ohio seniors who will participate in the finals of the 28th annual American History Contest at Ohio University Nov. 15 and 16.

David J. Louis, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Louis, White Road, will represent Fayette County in competition for a four-year scholarship to the university.

Nearly 11,000 students took a preliminary examination with the high score in each county becoming eligible for the finals. In addition, those who did not have the highest score in their county but finished among the top 10 in the state became eligible.

The competition was initiated in 1947 by former Ohio University president John C. Baker and is now sponsored by the school and the Ohio University Fund, Inc.

First price is $100 and a full-tuition scholarship to Ohio University, renewable each year if the winner maintains a B average. Second prize is $75; third prize, $50, and fourth through tenth place winners will receive $20.

While in Athens, the finalists will be guests of the university and stay in the Convocation Center. An open house for parents of the students is scheduled for the afternoon of Nov. 15 at the home of President and Mrs. Harry B. Crewson.

Royal family attends rites

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family have participated under the watchful eye of the police in ceremonies honoring the dead of World Wars I and II.

Uniformed and plainclothes police were present at the Cenotaph, a monument in Whitehall, to guard against terrorist bombs. More than 20 persons have been killed in England in the past year in such bombings, attributed by police to the Irish Republican Army.

NURSES FROM FAYETTE Memorial Hospital recently attended an "Introduction to Basic Arrhythmia Recognition Class" sponsored by the Fayette, Clinton and Highland County Heart Branches and the Central Ohio Heart Chapter, Inc. (COHC). The class was held at the Elks Hall, Wilmington. Under the co-ordination of Mary Tompkins, R.N., COHC, the sessions help train nurses in cardiac monitoring. These nurses will attend a second portion of the workshop Nov. 13. Shown above from left to right are registered nurses Jane Patton, Mary K. West, Cary Sue Whitaker, Lora Prater and Mary Tompkins, instructor. The local Heart Association provided funds for each nurse to attend the class.

Fischer may lose world chess title

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Bobby Fischer's chess crown will go to a Russian if the dispute between the American and the International Chess Federation isn't settled by April 1, the president of the federation says.

Dr. Max Euwe said in an interview Sunday he will strip the 31-year-old American of his crown unless he agrees to defend it under the scoring rules set by the federation, which is known as Fide.

"At the moment we are in a complete stalemate," Euwe said.

At its June meeting in Nice, France, the Fide congress rejected Fischer's demand for a new scoring system for the 1975 title match. When he learned of this, Fischer sent a telegram to the federation's headquarter's in Amsterdam, saying his demands were "non-negotiable" and renouncing his title.

"We advised him that he had until April 1 to make up his mind, and appealed to him to reconsider his position in the interest of the chess playing world. But so far the world champion has not reacted to our plea," Euwe said.

Euwe, 73 and a former world champion, said Fischer "could go on claiming he is the real world champion, but that is something he should prove by playing."

"I hope, I even expect, a solution can be reached," he added. "I know Fischer to be a fair player and I feel rather confident he will drop his demands if we succeed in convincing him they are unreasonable."

Until Fischer defeated Boris Spassky for the championship in 1972, the world title was a Soviet monopoly. Now Soviet grandmasters Anatoly Karpov and Viktor Korchnoi are battling in Moscow for the right to challenge Fischer. Karpov has a commanding 3-1 lead in the 20th game of a 24-game series. Sixteen games were draws. The first player to win five games or the player with the most victories at the end of the series earns the right to challenge Fischer.

Common mart hikes dairy output

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy production in the European Common Market is continuing to climb and may send more cheese and possibly more butter and other milk products into the world market within a few years, a report by the Agriculture Department said today.

Consumption of dairy products by Europeans is not expected to keep pace with milk production gains that are expected to average 2 to 3 per cent annually over the next five years, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

"The result will be an increase in that part of the supply seeking an export outlet," the report said. "The preferred form for the potentially expanded export supply is most likely to be cheese."

European dairy manufacturers utilize large-scale, highly mechanized plants for cheese production and more are under construction, the report said. It was written by Edward Karpoff, a foreign commodity analyst in the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Surplus dairy production in Europe, encouraged by high government subsidy guarantees, has been a perennial problem for American dairy farmers. Huge increases in import quotas last year and in early 1974 have been blamed in part for the financial problems confronting U.S. milk producers.

President Ford has assured farmers that no further increases in dairy quotas will be undertaken without full discussion with the industry. But the report today indicated the huge buildup of European dairy stocks will be a potential problem for U.S. farmers at least through 1980 unless new solutions are found.

Five of the Common Market's nine countries are mainly involved in the dairy buildup: Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Denmark.

Rose Avenue PTO carnival raises $1,800

The annual Rose Avenue School dinner and carnival held Saturday night has added over $1,800 to the school's Parent Teacher Organization treasury.

The PTO sponsored dinner drew a tremendous response from area residents, and the school was packed throughout the evening.

Following dinner, those who attended enjoyed several carnival games including children's games and their own form of bingo. Popcorn and cotton candy were available.

Winners of the games were given prizes donated by local merchants. Prizes for the large drawing had also been donated by local businesses.

First prize in the drawing, a quarter of beef, was won by Joanne Estle, 702 Campbell St. Second prize, a 10-speed bicycle, was won by Larry Ging, Rt. 2, Washington C.H. A toaster oven was won by Dianna Smith, 1221 E. Temple St., and I.L. Grubb, 511 E. Temple St., won a hair dryer and styler.

The PTO expressed its appreciation to local groups which donated much of the food as well as many of the prizes.

Bus crash injures 20 near Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A bus with 40 football fans aboard overturned at a highway interchange just east of here Sunday night, injuring 20 occupants, authorities said.

One person, J.R. Schwab of Indianapolis, was listed in critical condition at Community Hospital in Indianapolis.

The bus was chartered by Indianapolis radio station WIBC and was returning to the Hoosier capital from a Cincinnati Bengal's home football game in Ohio.

A Marion County sheriff's deputy said the accident happened at 9:41 p.m. as the bus turned from Interstate 465 onto Interstate 70.

Also admitted to Community Hospital were Judy Gootee, 35, Indianapolis, and William Russell, Indianapolis.

Mrs. Gootee was listed in fair condition with facial cuts and Russell was in serious condition with head and shoulder injuries. Schwab was said to be in shock suffering from head injuries.

Thirty-eight persons were taken to Community Hospital and one to Methodist Hospital in downtown Indianapolis. It was not immediately known how many were admitted.

Authorities said the driver, Clyde F. Jordan, 49, Indianapolis, told them his steering went out and the bus went out of control on a rain-slick exit ramp.

The vehicle laid on its side for about 30 minutes and several passengers were trapped inside.

has hit all the large city theaters and been on television already," Chakeres commented. "Many of my patrons in Washington C.H. have seen it by that time and that's the reason there were only two people in the audience Tuesday night viewing "What's Up Doc," with Barbara Streisand and Ryan O'Neal. I was losing money and the theater wasn't fulfilling its entertainment purpose in the area. It was time for a change!"

Chakeres didn't decide on creating "Sounds Unlimited, Discotheque" Tuesday night. The idea had been in the back of his mind for the last five months, during which he traveled around getting ideas for a dance-hall establishment from places such as "2001" in Columbus, "The She" in Dayton and many other spots in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana; plus, through correspondence with people in Florida Las Vegas, Nev.

Then one evening, Chakeres and a friend named Gregg McNany, sat down and found themselves echoing each other about the proposed dream. McNany, who has only been a Washington C.H. resident for a year, had also been receptive to the lack of diverse entertainment in the Washington C.H. area. He decided to put his "marketing-consultant" occupation on the shelf for awhile in order to become a full partner with Chakeres in constructing "Sounds Unlimited Discotheque."

Quite unlike Chakeres, who has been in the entertainment business since the age of five (he sold popcorn and helped sweep the floor for his theater-owner father(, McNancy has had no previous entertainment experience; however, he is learning quickly from Chakeres' who at the age of 18, managed five movie houses in Springfield, while attending Wittenberg University, working toward a degree in engineering.

Chakeres' discotheque will run him around $100,000 to create the plush, entertainment-plus atmosphere he desires.

"THERE WILL be something for everyone here no matter what age. You can dance, you can play games, you can watch the old movies on the walls and most of all be entertained for five and a half hours in exchange for $2 at the door. Probably the greatest advantage will be not having to drive to Dayton or Columbus or Cincinnati in order to find such entertainment the people of Washington C.H. will now have access to," Chakeres said.

The discotheque will be "jumping from 7:30 p.m. through midnight on weekdays and until 1 a.m. or 1:30 a.m. on the weekends. Matinees are scheduled for the younger crowd from 1:30 p.m. through 4:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sundays. Children will be charged a dollar at the door during these afternoon performances.

Chakeres is planning to give the records and tapes an occasional rest, in place of live bands. He stated he already has a group under contract for the weekend matinees.

Chakeres and McNany summed things up when they agreed, "At the end of the month, Columbus won't have anything on us. Washington C.H. will have a place to boogie too!"

Lions grab five spots

Panthers lead SCOL selections

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

With Miami Trace heading the list, Fayette County claims 12 first team selections on the 1974 All-South Central Ohio League team. The Panthers, who tied for the co-championship with Circleville, spotted seven players on the team, while Washington Court House claimed five.

Circleville grabbed six positions on the all-league team. Greenfield placed four players on the team and Wilmington had two. Unioto and Hillsboro each had one player selected to the squad.

Eight players were repeats on the squad. Returning to the team were Greg Cobb and Jay Mossbarger of Miami Trace, Larry Dumford and Jeff Brown of Washington Court House, Alan Underwood and Scott Bowman of Circleville, Jackie Watson of Wilmington and Gary Barr of Greenfield.

Fayette County also claimed the captains of this year's team. Mossbarger, who is a tight end, was chosen as the honorary captain of the offensive unit. Cornerback Gilbert Sparkman of the Blue Lions won the selection as honorary captain of the defense.

Mossbarger and Cobb were the only players to be selected both offensively and defensively in the balloting. Mossbarger is a tight end on offense and an end on defense. Cobb, who is a junior, was named to the tackle spot on offense and as a linebacker on defense. This was the first year players could be selected both ways on the team.

In the offensive backfield are the three runners who crossed the 1,000-yard barrier this season - Watson of Wilmington, Biff Bumgarner of Circleville and Jeff Sagar of Miami Trace. Watson, who was honored as a safety last season, picked up 1,343 yards this year for the Hurricane. This was the third time Watson was named to the all-league team. Bumgarner, a junior, picked up 1,208 yards overall and 979 yards in six league games. Sagar rounded out the year with 1,005 yards.

There was a total of 18 seniors on the SCOL's dream team. Eight juniors made the squad and there were no sophomores or freshman.

Wilmington and Greenfield each had four honorable mention selections. Miami Trace, Washington Court House and Circleville each had three, while Unioto placed two on the honorable mention team. Hillsboro did not receive any honorable mention selections.

The first team members will be honored at the All-SCOL football banquet on Thursday. The banquet will be held at Washington Senior High School beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Hayes irate over officials, Spartans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes blames the top-ranked Buckeyes' 16-13 loss to Michigan State on dirty tactics by the Spartans and poor officiating.

"In practice we don't expect dirty football," the volatile coach said on his weekly television program late Saturday night. "You can't run your plays when you can't get your center off the ground."

Hayes charged that members of the Michigan State squad held down his players in an attempt to keep the Buckeyes from running a final play from just short of the goalline in Saturday's regionally televised game at East Lansing.

And Hayes contended the officials erred in not calling time.

"There were 26 seconds left and we couldn't get one play off," the Ohio State coach said. "They (the Spartans) kept us down on the ground. We couldn't get our men up."

Hayes charged that Steve Myers, his center, was held by the facemask to keep him on the ground.

"When there's that much of a pileup, the officials should call a time out," Hayes said. "That's where they blew it.

"I bitterly resent there was no effort to get our players unpiled. It was grossly unfair to our players.

"I may be bitter toward officials, but there are too many games decided by officials," he said.

Several Ohio State players appeared on the television show, and Hayes asked Scott Dannelley if he had been held.

"Otto Smith was holding me down," Dannelley replied. "He had my legs and hands."

Quarterback Cornelius Greene, asked by Hayes why he didn't run a play before time expired, said, "No. 71 was holding Scott down. I tried to help him get up."

Although Hayes has steadfastly refused to call this the greatest team in his 24 seasons at Ohio State, he told his television audience:

"Up until today, I thought it was our greatest team, especially on offense.

"A great, great season was smashed to smithereens. Now we've got to get ready to play two more great games and see where that takes us."

Ohio State, second in the Big Ten at 5-1 behind Michigan at 6-0, plays Iowa Saturday before facing the Wolverines Nov. 23 in Columbus.

Bengals win on Ken Anderson's heroics

On a day when two National Football League quarterbacks bordering on 40 years of age were pitching it up there with the best of them, young Ken Anderson proved to be just that — the best of them.

Anderson, who was eight years old when Sonny Jurgensen and Len Dawson each stepped back into the NFL pocket for the first time in 1957, put on a dazzling display of passing accuracy to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Anderson, 25 and in his fourth pro season out of tiny Augustana College, completed 15 of his first 16 passes to set a consecutive completion record of 16 over two games and 20 of 22 passes — a new NFL efficiency record.

"Anderson was superb," said Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown. "But then, that's the way he usually is."

But threading his passes through the Steelers' defense wasn't all Anderson was called on to do. He also sprinted to the sidelines to make a victory-saving tackle on Mike Wagner after the Steeler safety had scooped up a loose ball in the fourth quarter and was racing toward the game-tying touchdown.

And all this came after Pittsburgh's Glen Edwards had temporarily knocked Anderson out of the game with a vicious tackle.

In the rest of the NFL, it was Dallas 20, San Francisco 14; Washington 27, Philadelphia 20; Denver 17, Baltimore 6; Green Bay 20, Chicago 3; Oakland 35, Detroit 13; Los Angeles 21, Atlanta 0; Miami 21, New Orleans 0; Houston 21, Buffalo 9; Cleveland 21, New England 14; the New York Jets 26, the New York Giants 20 in overtime, and San Diego 14, Kansas City 7.

Redskins 27, Eagles 20

Sonny Jurgensen, whose aching knees and damaged thigh probably make him feel older than his 40 years, still has a spry right arm. He hit Charley Taylor with a 30-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter to rally Washington past Philadelphia.

Chargers 14, Chiefs 7

Lenny Dawson, who has celebrated 39 birthdays, had a day worth celebrating if only his team had won. Dawson passed for 381 yards but was beaten by rookie Jesse Freitas' 71-yard tie-breaking touchdown bomb to Gary Garrison.

Dolphins 21, Saints 0

With the Dolphins' victory, paced by Bob Griese's three first-half touchdown passes and a hammerlock defense, they're back on top with an eye on their third straight Super Bowl crown.

"Our defense was outstanding," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "Our offense was great in the first half."

Browns 21, Patriots 14

The Patriots elected to open the game by kicking into the wind so that the Browns would have to "start off running the ball," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

They got a lot more running than they bargained for as little Greg Pruitt started running with the kickoff at his 12 and didn't stop until he reached the Patriots' end zone. Pruitt later dashed 25 yards with a fourthquarter punt to set up Cleveland's tie-breaking touchdown drive, culminated by Ken Brown's four-yard run.

Oilers 21, Bills 9

The Bills, riding a high from their exciting victory over New England last week, came to a crushing low Sunday, losing to the Oilers.

Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini threw a 13-yard scoring strike to Mack Alston and handed off for touchdown runs of 13 yards by Willie Rodgers and nine by Vic Washington.

"We're back in the pack now," said Buffalo Coach Lou Saban, whose club is tied with the awesome Dolphins, both with 7-2 records.

Jets 26, Giants 20

If nothing else, the Jets proved to be the better New York club on Sunday, Nov. 10. But it took five periods to decide this intra-city squabble between a team from Queens, N.Y., and another from New Haven, Conn.

Gimpy-legged Joe Namath, who passed for 236 yards — to Giant quarterback Craig Morton's 237 — uncharacteristically rolled four yards for the game-tying touchdown, then passed five yards with 6:53 gone in the overtime for victory.

Rams 21, Falcons 0

"It didn't look to me like there was a 21-point difference," said Atlanta's Marion Campbell, making his head coaching debut. But only Campbell, replacing the fired Norm Van Brocklin, and the point spread bettors will see it that way.

Upsets dominate college scene

When is a touchdown not a touchdown? When the play starts after the final gun ... and when it's an illegal play, anyway.

Both those things happened to No. 1-ranked Ohio State Saturday, although in the confusion over whether or not time had expired before Ohio State's Brian Baschnagel picked up a loose ball and darted into the end zone one important fact was somewhat overlooked — the play would been nullified by an illegal procedure penalty and would not have been rerun since a game can end on an infraction by the offensive team.

"It was the ruling of the back judge and the field judge that time had expired before the last play," Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke said Sunday night in the wake of Michigan State's controversial 16-13 triumph over Ohio State.

"But the referee also told me they were not set for a full second before the snap. The field judge was ready to throw the flag, but he didn't because the game was over."

And that seemed to put a damper on Coach Woody Hayes' claim that "they (the players) say there were still two seconds on the clock when the ball was snapped. The ball was fumbled by the quarterback on the exchange, Baschnagel picked it up and took it into the end zone."

That was the biggest upset on one the looniest days in an already ridiculous college football season, a day that left many of the bowl committees looking like candidates for the funny farm, although Ohio State's closest challengers made their moves to supplant the Buckeyes in the ratings.

Oklahoma, runner-up to Ohio State in The Associated Press poll, battered Missouri 37-0; third-ranked and Orange Bowlbound Alabama destroyed Louisiana State 30-0 and No. 4 Michigan shaded Illinois 14-6 and took a one-game lead over Ohio State in the Big Ten's Rose Bowl race. After that, though, the roof fell in:

Southern Methodist 18, fifthranked Texas A&M 14; Georgia 17, sixth-ranked Sugar Bowlbound Florida 16; North Carolina State 12, seventh-ranked Cotton Bowl-bound Penn State 7; Baylor 34, 12th-ranked Texas 24; Brigham Young 21, 16th ranked Arizona State 18; Kentucky 38, Peach Bowl-bound Vanderbilt 12; Tenth-ranked Auburn 24, Sun Bowl-bound Mississippi State 20, and Clemson 54, Sun Bowl-bound North Carolina 32.

Eighth-ranked Notre Dame, headed for the Orange Bowl and a rematch with Alabama, and No. 15 Houston, which will oppose N.C. State in the AstroBluebonnet Bowl, had the weekend off while ninth-ranked Nebraska, Florida's Sugar Bowl foe, disposed of Iowa State 23-13 and No. 11 Southern California moved into the Pacific-8 Conference lead and the Rose Bowl driver's seat by trouncing Stanford 34-10.

Miami of Ohio, rated No. 13 and reportedly set for the Tangerine Bowl, wrapped up its second consecutive Mid-American Conference crown by edging Kent State 19-17. Maryland, No. 14 and headed for the Liberty Bowl, crushed Villanova 41-0 and Fiesta Bowl-bound Oklahoma State, ranked No. 17, trimmed Kansas State 29-5.

Rounding out The Second Ten, No. 18 California walloped Washington 52-26; Pitt, tied for 19th with Texas Tech, whipped Temple 35-24 and Tech blanked Texas Christian 28-0. Tech has accepted a bid to the Peach Bowl ... on the condition it doesn't somehow back into the Southwest Conference title and Cotton Bowl berth that nobody seems to want.

Trailing 13-3 in the fourth quarter, Michigan State battled back to overtake Ohio State on a 44-yard pass from Charley Baggett to Mike Jones and Levi Jackson's 88-yard run with just over three minutes left.

Oklahoma's Jim Littrell romped for 155 yards, Joe Washington added 143 and a touchdown and Grant Burget tallied twice as the Sooners rushed for 498 yards against Missouri.

Meanwhile, Alabama used the strong running of Willie Shelby and a 29-yard fumble return by Ricky Davis to post its 41st triumph in the last 42 regular-season games and hand LSU its worst setback since 1963 and its worst shutout defeat in 13 seasons under Coach Charlie McClendon.

Gordon Bell ran eight yards for one score and Dennis Franklin smashed over from a yard out to give Michigan a 140 first-half lead and the Wolverines held on to defeat Illinois.

The Southwest Conference chase remained jumbled when SMU upset frontrunning Texas A&M. Oscar Roan picked up a teammate's fumble and raced 14 yards for one touchdown, Ricky Wesson darted 20 yards for another and Louie Kelcher and Steve Morton led an inspired defense.

Baylor moved into second place, one-half game behind the Aggies, by defeating Texas' six-in-a-row champs for the first time since 1956 as Neal Jeffrey threw two touchdown passes and ran for one score.

Fullback Stan Fritts scored one touchdown and passed 22 yards to Pat Hovance for another as N.C. State kayoed Penn State. Freshman Monte Anthony ran for two scores and led Nebraska past Iowa State. And Secdrick McIntyre's 54-yard run in the third period — his second touchdown — enabled Auburn to withstand two late Mississippi State scores.

Anthony Davis scored twice and passed for a third TD as Southern Cal drubbed Stanford and took a one-game lead in the Pac-8. Dave Draudt's 39-yard field goal with 10 seconds left lifted Miami over Kent State.

Tim Wilson's two touchdowns paced Maryland past Villanova and Gary Sheide's two scoring passes enabled BYU to edge Arizona State and maintain its half-game lead over Arizona in the Western Athletic Conference.

Bob Shephard's 83-yard interception return highlighted Oklahoma State's rout of Kansas State. Steve Bartkowski fired touchdown passes of 56 and 43 yards and Howard Strickland scored three times — once on a 68-yard run — in California's romp over Washington.

Freshman Elliott Walker, subbing for injured All-American Tony Dorsett, rushed for 169 yards and four touchdowns in leading Pitt over Temple. And sub quarterback Don Roberts directed four scoring drives as Texas Tech trounced Texas Christian.

Country Club holds tourney

With a score of 66, the team of Donald Anderson, David Boswell, Herbert Sollars and Burnham Light won a team scramble tournament at the Washington Country Club, Sunday afternoon.

Golfers followed a new rule in the tournament. One golfer on each team was permitted a mulligan on each hole, if he desired.

Ten teams participated in the event. Taking second was the team of Gene Heath, Donald Long, John Arbogast and Jim Kirk with a 67.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 67

The meeting of Boy Scout Troop 67 was opened by Greg Holford giving the Pledge of Allegiance. Larry Detty followed this by giving the Scout Oath and Doug Binegar the Scout Laws.

We were told that next weekend is to be the monthly campout, to be held at Camp Ki Yi Ro, near Lancaster. The cost is $3.00 and there is a patch which may be obtained for making the trip for an extra $1.00.

Breakfast tickets are to be all turned in on Saturday. Scouts are to work when their mothers do and the tickets are $1.75 for adults, and $1.00 for children.

Patrols then went into patrol corners to get suggestions to help improve the Wednesday night meetings. Senior patrol leader John Milstead gave the Scout Benediction.

A game of steal the bacon was played and the score was 20 to 21.

The bidding:

Opening lead - ace of spades.

Marty Cohn of Atlanta, Georgia, was playing in a national team of four championship several years ago and held the South hand.

Cohn is well known for his psychic bids, and on top of that he is the foremost advocate of opening the bidding with a three-card major suit, even with good hands. His partners are barred from casually raising his opening major suit bids — unless they are willing to incur his considerable wrath — with less than four or, preferably, five trumps.

When it came Cohn's turn to bid on this deal — after two passes — he turned to his left-hand opponent, Mike Moss of New York, and asked which one of his teammates would be holding the South hand at the other table.

This was a reasonable question to ask under the circumstances, as Cohn — faced with a wide choice of bids — was willing to explore the psychological advantages of knowing who his opposite number at the other table would be.

But Moss either didn't know, or pretended not to know, who was sitting South at the other table. He furthermore argued that Cohn was not entitled to this information, and that he was welcome to call the tournament director if he wanted to settle the issue.

But Cohn, unwilling to pursue the altercation further, said at this point: "In that case, I'll open the bidding with seven hearts."

Everybody passed and Moss led the ace of spades. Cohn ruffed, drew a round of trumps, cashed four club tricks, discarding a diamond from dummy, and so made the grand slam.

Said Cohn, after the hand was over, "The next time I ask a civil question, I'll expect a civil answer!"

Winners at the Washington C. H. Duplicate Bridge Club Tuesday night were Mrs. J. C. Wright and Mrs. Gay Jackson first with 89, Mrs. Eber Coil and J. C. Wright second with 81, and Mrs. Craig Vandemark and Dr. Norbert Nissimov third with 76. There were six full tables and par was 67.

Cold Feet and Circulation

I'm 67 and my circulation is bad. My feet get cold even when the weather is not particularly cold. Are there any exercises to improve circulation?

Mr. T.F., Iowa

Dear Mr. F.:

My very first question is: DO YOU SMOKE? If you do, neither exercise nor medication will compensate for the spasms and the added narrowing of the blood vessels created by tobacco.

At your age, there is always some narrowing of the blood vessels which impairs normal circulation. Circulation can be measured to see if there is an adequate amount of blood going to the tips of the fingers and toes.

Special instruments similar to the blood pressure machine can measure the pulsations of the smaller arteries to the legs and feet.

Every avenue of study must be taken to see if there is an underlying reason for your poor circulation. In the absence of these, special exercises will increase circulation.

A person lying flat on his back elevates his legs for about 30 seconds, until the toes seem to become slightly pale, or blanched. Then he sits with his legs dangling over the side of the bed, moving his legs backwards and forwards for about two minutes, until the normal pinkish color appears.

Finally, he lies flat for about five minutes. This cycle is repeated in a few minutes. The exercise should be done about three times a day.

They do not, however, remove underlying causes.

Does vitamin A improve the eyesight?

Miss R.W., S.C.

Dear Miss W.:

If poor vision is identified with an established vitamin A deficiency then the use of this vitamin is essential.

In the absence of any vitamin A deficiency, a visit to the ophthalmologist will be a greater contribution to your vision.

Three youths hurt in rural accident

A 16-year-old Fayette County youth sustained an incapacitating injury in an accident at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

Ronald E. Moore, of U.S. 62, was taken by ambulance to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for back pain and is presently reported in fair condition.

Moore was one of two other persons injured in the accident.

Sheriff's deputies reported the mishap occurred when the auto Moore was driving failed to negotiate a right curve on Prairie Road, nine and four-tenths miles north of Washington C. H., and traveled left of center, colliding with an oncoming van driven by Timothy J. Keaton, 16, of New Holland. After the original impact, the van traveled on and struck a guard rail, while the auto stopped in the roadside ditch.

Keaton's passenger Jeffrey L. Ruth, 16, of New Holland was also injured, as was Moore's passenger, Richard L. Rich, 19, of 930 Dayton Ave. They were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment, Rich, for chest pain and Ruth, for a puncture wound of the forehead. Hospital officials had no report on Keaton. Rich and Ruth were released.

Both vehicles were severely damaged in the crash.

The Sheriff's Department reported seven additional weekend accidents, while city police reported two weekend mishaps, one of which involved injury.

Milford Stiffler, 41, of 217 N. Fayette St., passenger of the Harmison Auto, was X-rayed at Fayette Memorial Hospital for a possible shoulder injury and Dennis Harrison, 2, also of 217 N. Fayette St. and also a rider in the Harmison auto sustained a bruised right knee. Damage to the cars was reported as slight.

An accident in front of the Post Office on Market Street occurred at 8:40 a.m. Saturday and involved cars driven by Raymond E. Penwell, 58, of 713 Sycamore St., and Harry C. Hughes, 60, of Wildwood Road. Damage was estimated as minor.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY, 11 p.m. — A car driven by Everett F. Smith, 47, of Milledgeville, traveled off Marchant-Luttrell Road, two tenths of a mile west of the Grassy Branch Road intersection, and struck a fence owned by Martin Lane, of Sabina.

The collision ripped the left front door off Smith's auto and severely damaged it. Smith claimed injury from the mishap after he was contacted by sheriff's deputies and cited for leaving the scene of the accident.

10:40 p.m. — Cars driven by Linda L. Shollar, 16, of 600 Brentwood Dr. and Jean Ann Tucker, 34, of 932 Millwood Ave., collided in the Roller Haven parking lot on the CCC-Highway-W. Damage was minor.

4:05 p.m. — A minor accident involving cars driven by Elbert Daniels, 34, South Solon, and Christine Garringer, 38, Miami Trace Rd., occurred in front of the Bloomingburg Elementary School on Biddle Boulevard.

4 p.m. — Cars driven by Linda K. Little, 25, Bloomingburg, and Sandra L. Huff, 31, Bloomingburg, collided at the intersection of Cross and Main streets in Bloomingburg. Damage to the Little auto was estimated as minor and damage to the Huff car was listed as moderate.

10 a.m. — Moderate damage was incurred by a car driven by Alan H. Anschultz, 16, of Bloomingburg, when he failed to negotiate a right curve on CCC Highway-W at the Washington-Waterloo Road intersection and drove off the left side of the road and into an embankment. Anschultz was not hurt.

8:50 a.m. — An accident involving cars driven by Marion B. Dawson, 53, Plano Rd., and Ralph W. Sanders, 28, Winter Haven, Fla., occurred when Dawson turned left off U.S. 35 onto Eyman Road and Sanders attempted to pass. There were no injuries.

FRIDAY, 11:20 p.m. — A similar accident occurred when a car driven by Ronnie E. Walton, 26, Wellston, attempted to pass a car he couldn't safely stop behind, driven by Norman W. Day, 52, Rt. 6, while Day was turning left off U.S. 35 onto Bogus Road. The impact knocked Day's auto into a Dayton Power and Light utility pole. Damage was moderate and Walton was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Neither driver was injured.

Glenn sees unhappiness by voters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator-elect John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the election last week indicated voter disenchantment over events of the past year and "a lot of unhappiness with the way things are going, too."

But Glenn, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said he did not view the increase in Democratic control of Congress as a "mandate to take over the country."

"It was (voter) repudiation of some of the things they had seen going on last year," the former astronaut said.

Glenn, who was elected by a huge margin while Ohio's Democratic governor was being defeated, said the voter unhappiness with the way things are going was indicated by a lot of crossover voting and splitting tickets.

Glenn also said this country needs a broad-based foreign policy for international relations which he believes will center on food and fuel for the next few decades.

"Hopefully," he said, it should be with the support of and in cooperation with Congress instead of relying on the one-man diplomacy of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.
